ANTHONY SNOW'S WILL AND INVENTORY.

Literally Transcribed,

By George Ernest Bowman.

Anthony Snow died at Marshfield in August, 1692, according to the town records.* Since the codicil to his will was dated 8 August, 1692, his death must have occurred between the eighth and the thirty-first days of that month. His wife was Abigail<sup>2</sup> Warren (Richard<sup>1</sup>), who survived him. His will is now in possession of the Connecticut Historical Society at Hartford, Conn. They have had it for many years and do not know from whom they received it. Permission to photograph it was secured through the courtesy of their Librarian, Mr. Albert Carlos Bates. It is written on the first two pages of a four-page folio seven and five-eighths by twelve and one-fourth inches in size, and is in very good condition.

The will and inventory are recorded in the Plymouth County Probate Records, Volume I, pages 156–158. The copy of the will here given was made from the original document; the copy of the inventory was made from the probate records as the original has disappeared from the files. The illustration shows the first page of the will.

GOVERNOR BRADFORD'S LETTER BOOK.

Reprinted, by permission, from the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society.

Governor Bradford's Letter Book is so little known it has been decided to reprint it in this magazine and make it accessible to all. Unfortunately the fragment of the original manuscript rescued by Mr. Clarke cannot now be found, and the text printed in the "Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society," Volume III (1794), pages 27 to 76 inclusive, has been followed. From the first volume of the "Proceedings" of the same society we also reprint in full the account of the receipt of the manuscript, and notes regarding it.

[Proceedings, Vol. I, pp. 51, 52]

At a meeting of the Historical Society, on Tuesday, the thirtieth day of July, 1793, at Winthrop's or Governor's Island..... The following donations were received:—

For the Library:—Fragment of a MS. Letter-book of Governor Bradford, of Plymouth, from 1624 to 1630, found in a grocer's shop in Halifax, Nova Scotia. From James Clarke, Esq., of Halifax.

This fragment of Governor Bradford's Letter-book was printed in Vol. III. of the Collections, making fifty pages. It appears from a note at the beginning of the printed text that the MS. of the part preserved began with "page 339, the preceding pages wanting," and covered the years 1624-1630. This shows that what was recovered was but a small part of what was lost; while it is probable that the collection originally contained also letters of a later date than 1630. Governor Bradford's History closed with the year 1646, and the letters which he had preserved to illustrate that part of the narrative, from 1630 to its conclusion, may have been included in his Letter-book, as well as those used in the earlier portion. fragment recovered may have been one volume of a series continuously paged. The fortunate recovery of Governor Bradford's History, some sixty years after Mr. James Clarke rescued this fragment from a grocer's shop in Halifax, happily supplies to a certain extent the place of the Letter-book; for, while the author did not copy into his History all these letters, we may well suppose him, judging from the use he made of those preserved, to have used the most valuable part of them.

The finding of this manuscript in Halifax naturally suggests the thought that it left Boston at the time of the "evacuation," in March, 1776; and, it being well known that the British soldiers during the occupation of Boston had free access to the Historical Library of books and manuscripts of the Rev. Thomas Prince, kept in a room in the tower of the Old South Meetinghouse, that it was taken from that collection. This is not improbable. There may be no positive evidence that Prince's Library then contained this Letter-book, yet we know that it was once in Prince's possession. For, besides the manuscripts of Bradford, which he mentions, in the preface to his Chronological History, as having had an "opportunity to search," - namely, "Bradford's History of Plymouth People and Colony," in folio, and "A Register of Governor Bradford's, in his own hand, recording some of the first deaths, marriages, and punishments at Plymouth, with three other miscellaneous volumes of his," in octavo,—he several times refers, in his notes on the margin of Bradford's manuscript History, to "Governor Bradford's Collection of Letters." See pp. 47, 61, 64, and 71 of the printed volume.*

The following is the letter of Mr. Clarke which accompanied the manuscript:

"Halifax, May 28, 1793.

"Sir,—The enclosed ancient manuscript I found some years ago in a grocer's shop in this town, of whom I obtained it with a view of saving what remained from destruction. I lament extremely that a page has been torn out; and it gives me pleasure that I now have an opportunity of placing it in your hands,—a freedom I am induced to take from your advertisement of the first of November, 1792, and from a persuasion that it may contribute in some measure to the important objects of your Society, and I could wish I might otherwise be serviceable.

"I am, respectfully, Sir, your most obedient humble servant, "James Clarke.

"The Rev. Jeremy Belknap."

Where the writer speaks of a page being torn out, he probably means that one leaf had been torn out of the volume. Bradford may have written on one side only of the leaf in copying his letters, as he generally did in writing his History, so that one leaf would represent one page of writing. — Eds.

GOVERNOUR BRADFORD'S LETTER BOOK.

To our beloved and right well esteemed friend Mr. William Bradford Governour these, but inscribed thus:

To our beloved friends Mr. William Bradford, Mr. Isaac Allerton, Mr. Edward Winslow, and the rest whom they think fit to acquaint therewith.

Two things (beloved friends) we have endeavoured to effect, touching Plymouth plantation, first, that the planters there might live comfortably and contentedly. 2d that some returns might be made hither for the satisfying and encouragement of the adventurers, but to neither of these two can we yet attain. Nay, if it be as some of them report which returned in the Catherine, it is almost impossible to hope for it, since, by their sayings, the slothfulness of one part of you, and the weakness of the other part, is such, that nothing can go well forward. And although we do not wholly credit these reports, yet surely, either the country is not good where you are, for habitation; or else there is something amiss amongst you; and we much fear the willing are too weak and the strong too idle. And because we will not stand upon the number of the objections made by them against you; we have sent them here enclosed, that you may see them and answered before in this book; namely, before Liford's letters, where those letters should also have been placed, but they came not then to hand and I thought better to put them in, than to omit them.)

As for such as will needs be upon their particulars now that they are gotten over, you must be sure to make such covenants with them, as that first or last the company be satisfied for all their charge. Neither must you proceed to these agreements and consultations with many at once, otherwise how easy might they make a lead in rebellion, which have so long done it in cheating and idleness.

Touching Mr. Weston, his disturbing of you about that £100 taken up for Mr. Brewer, except we conclude with Solomon that oppression maketh a wise man mad, we cannot but wonder at it, seeing under his own hand, it is apparently and particularly expressed, summed up and sold with the rest of his adventures, so as no sober man can possibly question it. 2dly, had it not been sold, Mr. Brewer might well have had it, to pay himself part of a debt which Mr. Weston oweth him for commodities sold to him, which he saith amounteth to above £100, as he can prove by good testimony. 3dly, if it had not been apparently sold, Mr. Beuchamp who is of the company also, unto whom he oweth a great deal more, had long ago attached it (as he did other's 16ths) and so he could not have demanded it, either of you or us.

And if he will not believe our testimony here about, who shall believe his, either in this, or any other matters. It is a dangerous casc, when a man groweth naught in prosperity, and worse in adversity, and what can the end of all this be, but more and more misery. And for conclusion with him, you may shew him what we have wrote about him, and if that satisfy him not, but that he shall still follow his mad and malicious practices against you, warn him out of your precincts, and let it be upon his peril to set foot thereon; it being indeed no reason that a whole plantation should be disturbed or indamaged by the frantic humours of any one man whatsoever.

Now further for yourselves; as the power of government is fallen upon you, both by lot and desert (as we are persuaded) so your troubles and cares have been so much the more hitherto; and we would not have you think of easing yourselves till you have either made things better, or ended your warfare; for it is best that the world afford us these crosses lest we should forget the meditation of heaven.

And we pray you all even look to yourselves, and your ways; that there be not amongst you some cause or occasion of these evil men's insultings and bravery upon you, as they do, that we charge you with nothing, but are ready to make your just defence at all times against opposites; yet let it not offend you, that we wish you to look to yourselves, as first that you walk close with God, being fervent and frequent in prayer, instruction and doctrine, both openly and privately. 2dly, that you instruct and bring up your young ones in the knowledge and fear of God, restraining them from idleness and profanation of the 3dly, that you freely and readily entertain any honest men, into your church, estate and society, though with great infirmities and difference of judgment; taking heed of too great straitness and singularity even in that particular. 4thly, that there be fervent love and close cleaving together among you that are fearers of God, without secret whispering or undermining one of another, and without contempt or neglect of such as are weak and helpless, if honest, amongst you. This do, and in all things be humble, cheerful and thankful; that if you cannot grow rich in this world, yet you may be rich in grace; and if you can send us no other treasure, yet let all that visit you, bring from you the fame of honesty, religion and godliness, which we trust, shall comfort us more than all else you can send us in this world.

At a word, though we be detected of folly, ignorance, want of judgment, yet let no man charge us with dishonesty, looseness or unconscionableness; but though we lose our labours or adventures, or charges, yea our lives; yet let us not lose one jot of our innocence, integrity, holiness, fear and comfort with God.

And, thus ceasing for this time to trouble you further; praying God to bless and prosper you, and sanctify all your crosses and losses, that they may turn to your great profit and comfort in the end, with hearty salutations to you all, we lovingly take leave of you, from London, April 7, 1624.

Your assured lovers and friends,

James Sherley, The Thomas Brewer, Joh William Collier, Wil Joseph Pocok, Rob

Thomas Fletcher, John Ling, William Thomas, Robert Reayne.

[Now follows the first letters we received after the breach; for Mr. Thornell and the rest never replied nor writ more unto us, being partly ashamed of what they done and written.]

To our beloved friends Mr. William Bradford, Mr. Isaac Allerton, Mr. William Brewster, and the rest of the general society of Plymouth in New England, salutations.

Though the thing we feared be come upon us and the evils we strove against, have overtaken us; yet cannot we forget you, nor our friendship and fellowship, which, together we have had some years; wherein though our expressions have been small, yet our hearty affections towards you (unknown by face) have been no less than to our nearest friends, yea even to our own selves. And though your and our friend, Mr. Winslow, can tell you the estate of things here, and what hath befallen us; yet lest we should seem to neglect you, to whom by a wonderful providence of God, we are so nearly united; we have thought good once more to write unto you, and the arguments of our letter must consist of these three points, first to shew you what is here befallen, 2dly, the reason and cause of that which is fallen, 3rdly, our purposes and desires towards you hereafter.

The former course for the generality here is wholly dissolved from that course which was held. And whereas you and we, were formerly sharers, and partners in all voyages and dealings, this way is now so no more, but you and we are left to bethink ourselves, what course to take in the future, that your lives and our monies be not lost. And this, as ourselves first saw, so have we begun to practice, as we thought best for your and our safety for hereafter; and it standeth you no less in hand seriously to consider what is best to do, that you may both continue good conscience with God and procure your best safety in this world.

The reasons and causes of this alteration, have been these first and mainly, the many crosses, and losses and abuses by sea and seamen, which have caused us to run into so much charge, and debts and engagements, as our estates and means were not able to go on without impoverishing ourselves, and much hindering if not spoiling our trades and callings here; except our estates had been greater or our associates had cloven better to us. 2dly, As here hath been a faction and siding amongst us now more than two years; so now there is an utter breach and sequestration amongst us, and in two parts of us, a full dissertion, and forsaking of you, without any intent or purpose of medling more with you.

And though we are persuaded the main cause of their this doing is want of money (for need whereof men use to make many excuses) yet other things are by many pretended, and not without some colour urged, which are these: 1st, A distaste of you there, for that you are (as they affirm) Brownists, condemning all other churches, and persons but yourselves and those in your way, and you are contentious, cruel and hard hearted, among your neighbours and towards such as in all points both civil and religious, jump not with you. And that you are negligent, careless, wasteful, unthrifty, and suffer all general goods, and affairs to go at six and sevens and spend your time in idleness and talking and confering, and care not what be wasted worn and torn out, whilst all things come so easily, and so cheap unto you. 2dly, A distaste and personal contempt of us for taking your parts and striving to defend you, and make the lest of all matters touching you, insomuch as it is hard to say whether you or we are least loved of them.

Now what use either you or we may make of these things, it remainesh to be considered; and the more, for that we know the hand of God to be present in all these things, and he no doubt would admonish us of something which is not yet so looked to and taken to heart as it should. And although it be now too late for us, or you, to prevent and stay these things, yet is it not too late to exercise patience, wisdom and conscience, in bearing them, and in carrying ourselves in and under them for time to come. And as we ourselves stand ready to embrace all occasions that may tend to the furtherance of so hopeful a work; rather admiring at what is, than grudging for what is not, so it must rest still in you to make all good again. And if in nothing else you can be approved, yet let your honesty and conscience be still approved, and lose not one jot of your innocence amidst your many crosses and afflictions.

And surely if you upon this alteration behave yourselves wisely and go on fairly, as men whose hopes is not in this life; you shall need no other weapon to wound your adversaries;

for when your righteousness is revealed as the light, they shall cover their faces with shame, that causelessly have sought your overthrow.

And although (we hope) you need not our council in these things, having learned of God how to behave yourselves, in all estates in this world, yet a word for your advice and direction, to spur those forward, which we hope run already.

And first, seeing our generality here is dissolved, let yours be the more firm; and do not you like carnal people (which run into inconveniences and evils by examples) but rather be warned by your harms, to cleave faster together hereafter; take heed of long and sharp disputes and oppositions, give no passage to the waters, no not a tittle; let not hatred or heart-burning be harboured in the breast of any of you one moment, but forgive and forget all former failings and abuses, and renew your love and friendship together daily. There is often more sound friendship and sweeter fellowship in afflictions and crosses than in prosperity and favours; and there is reason for it, because envy flieth away when there is nothing but necessities to be looked on; but it is always a bold guest where prosperity shews itself.

And although we here which are hedged about with so many favours and helps in worldly things and comforts; forget friendship and love and fall out often times for trifles; yet you must not do so, but must in these things turn a new leaf and be of another spirit. We here can fall out with a friend and lose him today, and find another tomorrow; but you cannot do so, you have no such choice, you must make much of them you have, and count him a very good friend, which is not a professed enemy. We have a trade and custom of tale bearing, whispering and changing of old friends for new, and these things with us are incurable. But you which do as it were begin a new world and lay the foundation of sound piety and humanity for others to follow, must suffer no such weeds in your garden, but nip them in the head, and cast them out forever; and must follow peace and study quietness, having fervent love amongst yourselves as a perfect and entire bond to uphold you when all else fails you. And although we have written much to you heretofore to provoke to union and love as the only way to make you stand, and without which all would come to nothing; so now you are much more to be provoked thereunto, since you are left, rather to be spectators to the eye than objects to the hand, and stand most need one of another, at home when foreign help is so much decayed and weakened.

And if any amongst you, for all that, have still a withdrawing heart, and will be all to himself, and nothing to his neighbour, let him think of these things. 1st, The providence of God in bringing you there together. 2d, His marvellous preserving you from so many dangers, the particulars whereof you know and must never forget. 3d, The hopes that yet are of effecting somewhat for yourselves and more for your posterity if hand join in hand. 4th, The woful estate of him which is alone, especially in a wilderness. 5th, The succour and comfort which the generality can daily afford, having built houses. planted corn, framed boats, erected salt works, obtained cattle, swine, and pulling,* together with the diverse varieties of trades and faculties employed by sea and land, the gains of every one stretching itself unto all whilst they are in the general: but such as withdraw themselves tempting God and despising their neighbours, must look for no share or part in any of these things; but as they will be a commonwealth alone, so alone they must work, and alone they must eat, and alone they must be sick and die, or else languishing under the frustration of their vain hopes, alone return to England, and there to help all cry out of the country and the people; counting the one fruitless and the other merciless; when indeed their own folly, pride, and idleness is the cause of all which never weigh either the providence of God, the conscience of their duty, nor care for their neighbours, or themselves, further than to grate upon their friends; as if other men owed them all things, and they owed no man any thing. 6th, The conscience of making restitution, and paying those debts and charges which hath befallen to bring you there, and send those things to you, which you have had, must hold you together; and for him that withdraws himself from the general; we look upon him, as upon a man, who, having served his turn, and fulfiled his desire, cares not what becomes of others, neither maketh conscience of any debt, or duty at all, but thinketh to slide away under secret colours, to abuse and deceive his friends; and against whom we need say little, seeing the Lord will never cease to curse his course.

And albeit, the company here as a company hath lost you; you know when Saul left David, yea, and pursued him, yet David did not abuse his allegiance and loyalty to him, no more should you; the evil of us here, cannot justify any evil in you, but you must still do your duty, though we neglect ours. 2dly. Indeed we are persuaded, it is in the most of the adventurers rather want of power, than will, that maketh them break off; they having gone as far as they can in the business, and are as sorry that they cannot go forward as you are offended that they do not go forward, yea, and the pretences of those which have the most colours, we are persuaded, proceed more from weakness of the purse, than fear of any thing else; and the want of money is such a grevious sickness now-a-days, as that it makes men rave and cry out, they cannot tell for what. And in a word we think it but reason, that all such things as these, are appertaining to the general, be kept and preserved together, and rather increased daily, than any way dispersed or embezzled away, for any private ends or intents whatsoever. 4thly, That after your necessities are served, you gather together such commodities as the country yields, and send them over to pay debts and clear engagements here, which are not less than £1400. All which debts, besides adventures, have been made about general commodities and implements, and for which divers of us, stand more or less engaged. And we dare say of you, that you will do the best you can to free us, and unburden us, that for your sakes, and help, are so much hazarded in our estates, and names. 5thly, If there be any that will withdraw himself from the general, as he must not have, nor use any of the general's goods, so it is but reason that he give sufficient security for payment of so much of the debts as his part cometh to; which how much it will come to, upon a person, or family is quickly counted; and since we require but men's faithful endeavours, and cannot obtain them, let none think much if we require other security than fair words and promises, of such men as make no more conscience of their words and ways.

If any amongst you shall object against us, either our long delays in our supplies heretofore, or our too much jollity in spending sometimes at our meetings more than perhaps needed; that will prove but trifling, for we could also find fault with the idleness and sloth of many amongst you, which have made all the rest go forward slowly, as also we could find fault with your liberality, and largeness also, when it might have been otherwise; but all such matters must still be left to the discretion and conscience of either side, knowing that where many have a hand in such business, there will not want some, that are too timerous and slack; as also that in matters of note, something must be done for form and credit. And for ourselves we think there hath hardly in our days; been a business, of this note, and fame, carried by Londoners, with twice the expense in by matters that this hath been; and therefore let each man rather seek to mend himself, than hastily to cast in objections against others.

In a word, since it thus still falleth out, that all things between us, are as you see, let us all endeavour to keep a fair and honest course, and see what time will bring forth, and how God in his providence will work for us. We still are persuaded, you are the people, that must make a plantation, and erect a city in those remote places, when all others fail, and return; and your experience of God's providence and preservation of you is such, that we hope your hearts will not now fail you, though your friends should forsake you (which we ourselves shall not do whilst we live, so long as your honesty so well appeareth) yet surely help would arise from some other place, whilst you wait on God with uprightness, though we should leave you also.

To conclude, as you are especially now to renew your love one to another; so we advise you, as your friends to these particulars. First let all sharpness, reprehensions, and corrections, of opposite persons, be still used sparingly, and take no advantage against any, for any by respects; but rather wait for their mending amongst you, than to mend them yourselves by thrusting them away, of whom there is any hope of good to be had. 2d, Make your corporation, as formal as you can, under the name of the Society of Plymouth in New England, allowing some peculiar privileges, to all the members thereof, according to the tenure of the patents. 3d, Let your practises and course in religion in the church, be made complete, and full; let all that fear God amongst you, join themselves thereunto without delay; and let all the ordinances of God be used completely in the church without longer waiting upon uncertainties, or keeping the gap open for opposites. 4ly, Let the worship and service of God be strictly kept on the Sabbath, and both together, and asunder let the day be sanctified; and let your care be seen on the working days every where and upon all occasions to set forward the service of God. And lastly, be you all entreated to walk so circumspectly and carry yourselves so uprightly in all your ways, as that no man may make just exceptions against you; and more especially that the favour and countenance of God may be so towards you, as that you may find abundant joy and peace even amidst tribulations, that you may say with David, though my father, and my mother should forsake me; yet the Lord will take me up.

We have sent you some cattle, cloth, hose, shoes, leather, &c. but in another nature than formerly, as it stood us in hand to do; we have committed them to the custody and charge of, as our factors, Mr. Allerton and Mr. Winslow, at whose discretion they are to be sold and commodities, taken for them as is fitting. And it standeth you in need the more carefully to look to, and make much of all your commodities, by how much the more they are chargeable to you, and though we hope you shall not want things necessary, so we think the harder they are got, the more carefully they will be husbanded. Good friends, as you buy them, keep a decorum in distributing them, and let none have varieties, and things for delight, when others want for their mere necessities, and have an eye rather on your ill deservings at God's hand, than upon the failings of your friends towards you; and wait on him with patience, and good conscience; rather admiring his mercies, (than repining at his crosses,) with the assurance of faith, that what is wanting here shall be made up in glory a thousand fold. Go on good friends, comfortably pluck up your hearts cheerfully, and quit yourselves like men, in all your difficulties, that notwithstanding all displeasure and threats of men, yet the work may go on which you are about, and not be neglected, which is so much for the glory of God, and the furtherance of our Countrymen, as that a man may with more comfort spend his life in it; than live the life of Methuselah in wasting the plenty of a tilled land, or eating the fruit of a grown tree.

Thus having not time to write further unto you, leaving other things to the relation of our friends; with all hearty salutations to you all, and hearty prayers, for you all, we lovingly take our leave this 18th of December, 1624.

Your assured friends to our power,

James Sherley, (sick) William Collier, Thomas Fletcher, Robert Holland.

THE BREWSTER BOOK.

As already stated, the existing pages of the Brewster Book have been numbered consecutively for convenience of reference. In again taking up the task of transcribing the entries we shall begin with the present first page and indicate, as the work progresses, the places where leaves have been lost. At least twelve pages preceding the present first page are missing.

At least two children have used this page in lieu of a copy book, and one of them wrote the following lines:

> think on me when thou sest me not prove not to me uncind I mat not like the vether Coke which turn neth with the wind

The handwriting of these four lines is very similar to that on the pages containing the drawings of horsest, and they were doubtless written prior to 1650.

At the bottom of the page, written with the book turned upside down, are six lines so badly worn that no sense can be made out of what remains, in spite of many efforts.

THE SETTLEMENT OF PETER BROWNE'S ESTATE AND DEEDS OF LAND BELONGING TO HIS HEIRS.

Transcribed from the Original Records

BY GEORGE ERNEST BOWMAN.

THE material collected relating to Peter Browne's children will require so much space that it has been decided to print in this number some of the most important records, leaving the discussion of these and other records for a later issue.

The deed from Ephraim Tinkham to John Browne should be mentioned here, since it is the only known contemporary record in which the definite statement is made that Ephraim Tinkham's wife Mary was the daughter of Peter Browne. This deed seems to have escaped the notice of other investigators.

[Settlement of Peter Browne's Estate.*]

In this Court Mary the late wife of Peter Browne deceased who dyed wthout will presented an Inventory of the goods & Chattels of her said husb upon oath & was referred for Administracon to an other Cour of Assistants to be held the on munday the 11th of Novbr next ensuing.

THE WILL AND INVENTORY OF JOHN TURNER, SENIOR.*

Transcribed from the Original Documents,

BY GEORGE ERNEST BOWMAN.

JOHN TURNER, Senior, or "the Elder" as he was frequently called, married Mary<sup>3</sup> Brewster (Jonathan,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>), 10 November, 1645.† He died at Scituate, probably in 1697, shortly before 20 May, 1697, the day his inventory was taken. His will was dated 4 March, 1695, and proved 28 June, 1697. The will, the record of its approval, and the inventory are found in the Plymouth County Probate Records, Volume I, pages 266 to 270 inclusive, but the copies here given were made directly from the original documents, still preserved in the probate files. The will is in very bad condition. It is fourteen and three-fourths by eighteen and seven-eighths inches in size.

In the Name of God Amen This Fourth day of March in the year of our Lord God One thousand Six hundred Ninety & Five And in the Eighth year of the Reign of Our Soveraign Lord William the Third by the Grace of God of Great Brittaine France & Ireland King Defender of the Faith &c I John Turner Sen<sup>r</sup>; of the Town of Scituate In the County of Plymoth In the Province of the Massachusets Bay In His Majesties Territory & Dominion of New-England Husbandman being weak in body but in sound and Perfect mind and Memory (thanks be to God therefore) Do make Ordaine & Declare this my last will and Testament. # THE MAYFLOWER GENEALOGIES. STEPHEN HOPKINS AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Compiled from Original Sources, By George Ernest Bowman.

"So ten of our men were appointed who were of themselues willing to vndertake it, to wit, Captaine Standish, Maister Carver, William Bradford, Edward Winsloe, Iohn Tilley, Edward Tilley, Iohn Howland, and three of London, Richard Warren, Steeuen Hopkins and Edward Dotte."

"m<sup>r</sup> Steven Hopkins, & Elizabeth his wife; and . 2. children, caled Giles, and Constanta a doughter, both by a former wife. And . 2. more by this wife, caled Damaris, & Oceanus, the last was borne at sea. And . 2 . servants, called Edward Doty, and Edward Litster."

"mr Hopkins, and his wife are now both dead; but they lived above . 20 . years in this place, and had one sone, and . 4 . doughters borne here. Ther sone be-

. 5. came a seaman, & dyed at Barbadoes, one daughter dyed here. and . 2. are maried. one of them hath . 2. children, and one is yet to mary. So their Increase, which still survive, are . 5. But his sone Giles is maried,

4. and hath . 4. children.

. 12. his doughter Constanta, is also maried, and hath . 12. children all of them living, and one of them maried."

All that we know of Stephen Hopkins and his family before they arrived at Cape Cod is contained in these brief statements from Mourt's Relation and Bradford's History.* He came from London, had been married twice, had two children by each wife and brought two servants. These meagre facts are the only ones yet discovered which are supported by absolutely trustworthy contemporary evidence. Much speculation regarding his early life has been indulged in by various writers, but all have failed to produce from contemporary sources conclusive evidence of the soundness of their claims.

Before proceeding to a chronological record of the events in Stephen Hopkins's life after the arrival at Cape Cod, it will be well to consider more particularly the statements of Bradford quoted at the beginning of this article. A critical study of his words in connection with the will of Stephen Hopkins and the record of the division of his personal estate among his unmarried daughters, and other contemporary evidence, has convinced me that the Damaris Hopkins who came in the Mayflower died young, that the second of the four daughters said to have been born at Plymouth was named Damaris for her deceased sister, and that it was this second Damaris who, in the latter part of 1646 or early in 1647, became the wife of Jacob<sup>2</sup> Cooke (Francis<sup>1</sup>).

If this theory is accepted all known records can be perfectly harmonized. On any other theory a number of contemporary records are found to be contradictory and it becomes necessary to prove that at least part of them are incorrect.

For more than three years I have sought for evidence to prove that Bradford made an error in his account of the Hopkins family, for it is not a pleasant task to show descendants of Jacob Cooke that his wife Damaris did not come in the Mayflower, and I hoped that the idea that she must have been younger than Deborah, conveyed by the terms of her father's will, might be explained away. But the more I studied the records the more thoroughly convinced I became that the Mayflower Damaris died young.

I was first impressed by the order in which Stephen Hopkins mentioned his four unmarried daughters in his will.* They are three times named, and every time it is in this order: Deborah, Damaris, Ruth, Elizabeth. Again, when Caleb Hopkins and Myles Standish divided the personal estate † among these daughters they were named in the same order. Why did both the father and the brother name. Deborah first if Damaris was the older?

In Bradford's "view of the decreasings, & Increasings" of the passengers he mentions, either by name or in a way which makes identification positive, all of the children on the ship with the exception of Damaris Hopkins and Oceanus Hopkins. Since the name of Oceanus does not appear in the Division of Cattle in 1627 ‡ it is certain that he died before that time. If the Mayflower Damaris was the one who married Jacob Cooke and had at least one child before 1651 why did she alone of all the Mayflower passengers fail to receive credit for her share of the "Increasings?"

Three ways of explaining this failure to make any mention of Damaris have been suggested. The first and most reasonable one seems to be that she as well as Oceanus had died very young. The second is that Bradford forgot that she was a passenger and counted her as one of the four daughters he said were born at Plymouth. The third, and least probable, explanation is that he entirely overlooked her, although he had strictly followed out his plan and had taken every family "in order as they lye." At the end of his account of the passengers he mentions the two servants brought by Hopkins. If it is claimed that he forgot them until the list was completed it only strengthens the argument that Damaris was neither forgotten nor misplaced. He could hardly have discovered the omission of the servants without noticing any error in regard to Damaris.

Bradford's distinct statement that Hopkins had four daughters born at Plymouth, of whom one had died (evidently unmarried), one was still single, one was married and had no children living, and one was married and had two living children, must be accepted as correct unless positive proof to the contrary is produced. In writing of the children and grandchildren of Stephen and Elizabeth Hopkins born after the arrival at Plymouth, he says: "So their Increase, which still survive, are . 5 . " This number he also sets in the margin. (It is important to bear in mind that by "Increase" in this connection Bradford invariably means children or grandchildren born on this side of the ocean, after the arrival at Plymouth.) He says that Hopkins had a son and four daughters born at Plymouth, and that one of these daughters had borne two children who were still living, also that the son and one of the daughters had died. Each one of the five children "borne here" is specifically mentioned, and it is impossible to believe that Bradford intentionally included the Mayflower Damaris among the four daughters.

If she was entirely forgotten who were the four daughters born at Plymouth? Four unmarried daughters, Deborah, Damaris, Ruth and Elizabeth, are mentioned in Stephen's will. It is evident from this will that there were no other unmarried daughters living in 1644, that the only married daughter then alive was Constance, the wife of Nicholas Snow, and that there were no children of a deceased daughter. If, therefore, Damaris of the Mayflower married Jacob Cooke, and there were four other daughters born at Plymouth who was the fourth one, and why does not some trace of her appear in her father's will or some other contemporary record? As not the slightest hint of such another daughter has been found and the records almost conclusively prove that there was no such daughter we may safely discard the third explanation suggested.

The second explanation offered, that Bradford made a mistake and counted the Mayflower Damaris as one of the four daughters born at Plymouth, is more reasonable, but still it requires us to assume that he made an error in a matter where he would naturally be expected to be particular, and credited Stephen Hopkins with an increase too large by one. We must also assume that the father and brother of the Damaris of the will had some reason, unknown to us, for putting the oldest of four unmarried daughters in a secondary place instead of in her natural position. We must also believe that she was not married until an age, twenty-seven or more, which was for those times very unusual, and that she bore children unusually late in life.

Let us now consider the explanation which was suggested first by myself, over three years ago. Every one who has had any experience in the examination of old records has found many cases where a child died young and another child born later was given the same name. In some of these cases no mention of the death of the first child nor of the birth of the second is found on the records, but positive proof of the facts has been discovered. The absence of any record of the early death of the Mayflower Damaris or of the birth at Plymouth of another Damaris can not therefore be considered as proof that these events did not take place, especially when we remember that the vital records of Plymouth prior to 1648 have been lost.

Since Oceanus was born on the Mayflower, between 6/16 September and 11/21 November, 1620, the Mayflower Damaris must have been born at least a year earlier and was probably born before the year 1619. The record of the Division of Cattle, 22 May /1 June, 1627, mentions Damaris, Caleb and Deborah. Since Caleb was named as the executor of his father's will he was probably of age at the time it was made, 6/16 June, 1644. He certainly was twenty-one on 28 October /7 November, 1644, when he deeded land to his brother Gyles.* The appointment of Myles Standish as "overseer" of Stephen's will does not necessarily indicate that Caleb was then under age, since it was very common for overseers to be appointed if the widow,† or a daughter, or a son who had lately reached his majority, was chosen executor, and Caleb certainly was not over twenty-three when the will was made. It is probable, therefore, that he was born before 6/16 June, 1623, and as Oceanus was born late in 1620 and his mother doubtless suffered severely with the rest in that terrible first winter which proved fatal to so many, including probably the infant Oceanus, it is altogether unlikely that another child was born between Oceanus and Caleb. Even if Deborah was born before Caleb it is not probable that the date was earlier than the first part of 1622. The placing of her name after Caleb's in the Division of Cattle does not give us any clue to their relative ages, as it was very common in legal documents to name first all the sons, even infants, then all the daughters.

As already shown, the Mayflower Damaris must have been born early in 1619, or before. If, therefore, she was living when her father made his will she was at least three years, and was probably more than seven years, older than Deborah. The four daughters, Deborah, Damaris, Ruth and Elizabeth, were then unmarried and it is certainly a very unusual case if the father three times in his will placed a younger sister first. The will contains no intimation of favoritism towards Deborah, and as she was not married until nearly two years later it is not reasonable to suppose that approaching marriage led Stephen to name her first. If it were not known that a daughter Damaris came in the Mayflower no one would doubt that the Damaris of the will was younger than her sister Deborah.

The marriage of Jacob Cooke to Damaris Hopkins did not take place until after 10/20 June, 1646,* and if his wife came on the Mayflower she must have been over twenty-seven years of age, an unusually late marriage for a period when a girl was far more likely to marry at seventeen, and she was unusually old at the birth of her daughter Ruth, 17/27 January, 1665/6.†

It only remains to show that the four unmarried daughters mentioned in Stephen Hopkins' will in 1644 could have been the four mentioned by Bradford in 1651 as born at Plymouth.

Deborah<sup>2</sup> Hopkins married Andrew Ring at Plymouth on 23 April /3 June, 1646,‡ and we do not find any record of a child born to them until the birth of Elizabeth, at Plymouth, 19/29 April, 1652.§ This daughter Elizabeth is mentioned in Andrew's will || as deceased, and the other daughters were clearly younger than she. William Ring is called "elder son" in the will. He died at Plymouth between 16/26 June, 1730, and 21/31 May, 1731, the dates of making and probating his will.* His gravestone on Burial Hill states that he died in April, 1729, in the seventy-seventh year of his age. This date cannot of course be correct and his age at death may also be an error. If we assume that the age given is correct, then William the "elder son" was certainly born after Elizabeth, in 1653 or later. Every other reference to him found on the records indicates that he was much younger. If any children were born before Elizabeth no evidence of such births can now be found on the records and they certainly died young, probably before Bradford wrote.

Damaris<sup>2</sup> Hopkins married Jacob<sup>2</sup> Cooke (Francis<sup>1</sup>) in the latter part of 1646 or early in 1647 and the first child we find recorded as born to this couple was Elizabeth Cooke, born at Plymouth, 18/28 January, 1648/9.† The second child on the records, Caleb, called "eldest son" in his father's will,‡ was born at Plymouth 29 March /8 April, 1651.§ He was born therefore after Bradford wrote.|| The daughter Elizabeth married John<sup>2</sup> Doty (Edwara<sup>1</sup>) and died in 1692 in her forty-fourth year. Before her birth there was plenty of time for the birth of another child, who probably died after Bradford wrote.

Ruth<sup>2</sup> Hopkins must have been the daughter who died before Bradford wrote, as her father's will provided that in case Deborah, Damaris, Ruth or Elizabeth died unmarried her share of the personal estate should be distributed among the remaining sisters, and the settlement of Elizabeth's estate in 1659 shows that Ruth had died, unmarried, before that time. This settlement proves also that Elizabeth was the daughter described by Bradford as the one who was "yet to mary."

Although the evidence which has been presented does not prove conclusively that Damaris (Hopkins) Cooke was not a Mayflower passenger, it offers a reasonable explanation of contemporary records and statements which apparently are contradictory. If any record is found which conflicts with or disproves any part of this theory no one will be more pleased to see it than myself, since my sole aim in the compilation of the Mayflower Genealogies is to get at the facts as shown by the original records and written or printed statements of contemporary writers.

PILGRIM NOTES AND QUERIES.

NOTES.

TRURO, MASS., VITAL RECORDS. The Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants proposes to publish, if encouragement warrants, the Vital Records (Births, Marriages and Deaths) of the town of Truro, Barnstable County, Mass., from its incorporation in 1709 down to the year 1850. Following the plan adopted for all the historical work of this Society a literal transcript of these records will be printed, with the addition of a complete full-name index.

Among the names to be found in the Truro records are the following: Atkins, Atwood, Avery, Baker, Bangs, Brown, Chapman, Childs, Cobb, Cole, Collins, Conant, Cook, Davis, Doane, Dyer, Eldred, Eldridge, Freeman, Gross, Grozier, Harding, Higgins, Hinckley, Hopkins, Knowles, Lewis, Lombard, Mayo, Merrick, Newcomb, Nickerson, Nye, Paine, Perry, Phinney, Rich, Rider, Rogers, Sargent, Sellew, Small, Smalley, Smith, Snow, Stevens, Swett, Thayer, Thomas, Treat, Turner, Upham, Vickery, Warren, Webber, Wharf, Young. There are said to be 1300 entries relating to the Rich family alone.

It is estimated that the volume will contain over 400 pages of octavo size, and it will be printed in clear type on good paper and bound in linen. The cost of issuing this book will be about $1200. In order that this amount may be provided and the publication of these important records be assured, the cordial cooperation of every person interested in Truro, or in any other Cape Cod town, is earnestly solicited. Assistance may be rendered in two ways—by direct gifts to the "Cape Cod Town Record Fund," or by advance subscriptions for copies of the book.

The "Cape Cod Town Record Fund" has been started for the purpose of securing, as rapidly as the growth of the fund will permit, the publication not only of the Vital Records, but also of the Church, Gravestone, Proprietors and other records of every town in Barnstable County.

A gentleman (not a member of this Society) who declines to allow his name to be used, started this fund with a gift of $200, on condition that his contribution be applied towards the expense of making a literal transcript of the Truro Vital Records, ready to be put into the hands of the printer as soon as receipts from gifts and from subscriptions for copies of the book reach an amount which will warrant the publication of these records. It is expected that this transcript will be completed about April 1, 1903, and prompt and liberal contributions to the fund are urged in order that the work of printing may proceed rapidly.

All contributions to the fund will be acknowledged in "The Mayflower Descendant" and the names of contributors will also be printed in each book published at the expense of this fund.

The price of the "Truro, Mass., Vital Records" to those who subscribe in advance of publication will be four dollars ($4.00) per copy. The price to those who are willing to assist in securing the early publication of these records by sending a remittance with their order will be three dollars ($3.00). The book when published will contain a list of all advance subscribers who send remittances with their orders.

If the amount needed is secured and the Truro records are published, the returns from sales of the book will be added to the "Cape Cod Town Record Fund" and thus assist in printing the records of the other Cape Cod towns. It is hoped that the contributions for this work will be both prompt and liberal in order that the work may go forward rapidly and the "Truro, Mass., Vital Records" be ready for distribution before the General Congress of the Society to be held at Plymouth in September, 1903. The larger the contribution the earlier the work of printing can begin, but gifts of any amount and subscriptions for one or several copies of the book will be welcomed.

This Society has already begun printing in "The Mayflower Descendant" the Vital Records of Barnstable, Chatham, Eastham, Harwich and Yarmouth and the Precinct Records of Wellfleet; but the limited space which can be given to each town makes progress in the preservation of these records extremely slow, and it must be remembered that we have not yet been able to begin the Vital Records of Brewster (See announcement in another note), Dennis, Falmouth, Orleans, Provincetown, Sandwich, Wellfleet and Truro, or any of the Church, Gravestone, Proprietors or other records, all of which should be preserved by printing as early as possible. It is estimated that contributions amounting to $10,000 in addition to the receipts from sales of the different volumes as they are issued will be needed to defray the expense of publishing the whole of this great mass of important records. The Vital Records of every town in the county can be published within three years if one half of this sum can be secured. This can easily be raised if those interested in seeing these records printed will make an effort to secure contributions for the Fund and advance subscriptions for copies of the different books.

The prices of the Brewster and Truro books are as announced in these Notes, and the prices of the others will be fixed as early as possible. The order in which the towns will be taken up will depend on the wishes of contributors to the "Cape Cod Town Record Fund" and the amounts received from advance payments for copies of the respective books.

All who read this notice are urged to send to the Editor the name and address of every person they know to be descended from Cape Cod families and to personally call the attention of such persons to this most important work

Contributions for the "Cape Cod Town Record Fund" and subscriptions for the book should be addressed to the Editor.

CAPE COD TOWN RECORD FUND. Contributions received: A friend, $200.00; Miss Marion E. Gross, Hartford, Conn., $5.00. Advance payment for copy of Truro Records: $3.00. Total receipts, $208.00.

IN MEMORY OF ELDER WILLIAM BREWSTER. The Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants proposes to publish in a separate volume the Vital Records (Births, Marriages and Deaths) of the town of Brewster, Mass., down to the year 1850. As this town, originally a part of Harwich, was named in honor of Elder William Brewster, it has been thought appropriate to issue these records in a handsome memorial volume, and appeal to Elder Brewster's descendants to provide the necessary funds, either by gifts of such sums as they think best or by subscriptions for copies of the book.

Following the plan adopted for all the historical work of this Society, a literal transcript of the records will be printed, with the addition of a complete full-name index.

It is proposed to issue two editions, the Memorial Edition, with several full-page illustrations, on deckle-edged paper and handsomely bound; and a Regular Edition, of the records alone and uniform with the other Vital Records to be issued by this Society.

The Memorial Edition will be limited to one hundred and fifty (150) numbered and signed copies. The price of this edition will be $3.00 to advance subscribers who remit that amount with their order, provided, that the order is received before the book is published. If any copies of this edition remain unsubscribed for at date of publication, the price of such copies will be increased. Orders for this edition will not be received unless accompanied by a remittance.

Each advance order for the Memorial Edition accompanied by a remittance will be numbered as it is received, and the subscriber will be given the corresponding copy of the book, which will contain a list of all subscribers with their numbers, also a list of those who have made contributions towards the expense of publication.

The price of the Regular Edition will be $1.00 to advance subscribers remitting that amount with their order. After the book is issued the price of this edition will be $2.00.

Every descendant of Elder William Brewster is urged to assist this publication in memory of our honored ancestor by a liberal contribution or by a subscription (accompanied by a remittance) for one or more copies of the book; also by sending to the Editor the names and addresses of all Brewster descendants, in order that notices may be sent to them. It is hoped that the entire Memorial Edition will be subscribed for by descendants of Elder Brewster. All contributions towards the expense of publication will be acknowledged in "The Mayflower Descendant."

The work of making the transcript of the records has begun, but the manuscript will not be put into the hands of the printer until the amount received from contributions and subscriptions warrants such a step. It is hoped that this appeal will meet with such a prompt and liberal response that the book may be issued by July 1, 1903.

Contributions towards the expense of publication and subscriptions for copies of the book should be addressed to the Editor.

GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN CAPE COD TOWNS. While the copies of the Cape Cod records are being prepared searches for birth, marriage and death records can be made at very low rates. Since every page of the original volumes will be critically examined no entries will be overlooked and doubtless many long sought records will be discovered. The Editor has frequently found entries which had been missed by searchers who claimed to have made a thorough examination of the same records. Their failure was often due to relying on the "indexes" which many towns have. The majority of these "indexes" are very incomplete and many of them refer to extremely inaccurate "copies" instead of to the original records, and town clerks almost invariably produce the copy when the records are called for. The original is frequently at the other end of the town, several miles distant. Most of these copies are worthless, owing to numerous careless errors of the copyist, and frequently to his inability to read the ancient handwriting of the original.

All persons desiring to take advantage of this unusual opportunity for careful research at moderate rates should communicate with the Editor. All fees received will be added to the "Cape Cod Town Record Fund."

BOND OF WIDOW ELIZABETH FULLER.

THE MAYFLOWER DESCENDANT

Vol. V.

APRIL, 1903.

No. 2.

THE SETTLEMENT OF REV. SAMUEL FULLER'S ESTATE.

Literally Transcribed

BY GEORGE ERNEST BOWMAN.

REV. SAMUEL FULLER, son of Dr. Samuel Fuller of the Mayflower, died intestate at Middleborough 17 August, 1695,* and his widow Elizabeth was appointed administratrix 25 September, 1695. The record of this appointment and of the inventory taken 5 September, 1695, may be found in the Plymouth County Probate Records, Volume I, page 223. On page 224 is recorded the appointment of a guardian for the minor son Isaac, and on pages 246 and 247 is the agreement between the heirs.

The original inventory and the bond of the administratrix are still preserved in the probate files. The bond is of especial interest as it bears the autograph signatures of the widow Elizabeth Fuller and of her two bondsmen, Rev. Isaac Cushman and John Nelson. It is twelve and one-eighth by eight inches in size, and is in good condition, as will be seen by the accompanying illustration. The original inventory was used in making the copy for printing. It is somewhat worn on the right hand margin.

Contributions towards the expense of illustrating the bond have been received from Mr. Linus E. Fuller of New York and Messrs. James D. Lazell and George T. Prince of Philadelphia.

GOVERNOR BRADFORD'S LETTER BOOK.

Mr. CUSHMAN to Gov. BRADFORD.

Sir, December 22, 1624.

My hearty love remembered unto you, and unto your wife, with trust of your healths, and contentment amidst so many difficulties. I am now to write unto you, from my friend, and from myself, my friend and your friend. Mr. Sherley, who lieth even at the point of death, intreated me, even with tears, to write to excuse him, and signify how it was with him; he remembers his hearty, and as he thinks his last, salutations to you, and all the rest, who love our common cause. And if God does again raise him up, he will be more for you (I am persuaded) than ever he was. His unfeigned love towards us, hath been such, as I cannot indeed express; and though he be a man not swayed with passion, or led by uninformed affections, yet hath he cloven to us still amidst all persuasions of opposites; and could not be moved to have an evil thought of us, for all their clamours. His patience and contentment in being oppressed hath been much; he hath sometimes lent £800 at one time, for other men to adventure in this business, all to draw them on; and hath indeed by his free heartedness been the only glue of the company And if God should take him now away, I scarce think much more would be done, save as to enquire at the dividend what is to be had.

He saith he hath received the tokens you sent, and thanks you for them: he hath sent you a cheese, &c. Also he hath sent an heifer to the plantation, to begin a stock for the poor. There is also a bull and three or four jades, to be sold unto you, with many other things, for apparel and other uses; which are committed to Mr. Alerton and Mr. Winslow, who as factors are to sell them to you; and it was fitter for many reasons, to make them factors than yourself, as I hope you will easily con-

And I hope though the first project cease, yet it shall be never the worse for you, neither will any man be discouraged, but wait on God, using the good means you can. I have no time to write many things unto you; I doubt not but upon the hearing of this alteration some discontent may arise, but the Lord I hope will teach you the way which you shall choose. For myself as I have laboured by all means, to hold things here together, so I have patiently suffered this alteration; and do yet hope it shall be good for you all, if you be not too rash, and hasty; which if any be, let them take heed they reap not the fruit of their own vanities.

But for you, good Sir, I hope you will do nothing rashly, neither will you be swayed, by misreports, beside your ordinary course, but will persuade who may be, to patience, and peace.; and to the bearing of labours, and crosses in love together.

I hope the failings of your friends here, will make you the more friendly one to another, that so all our hopes may not be dashed. Labour to settle things, both in your civil, and religious courses, as firm, and as full as you can. Lastly, I must intreat you still, to have a care of my son, as of your own; and I shall rest bound unto you, I pray you let him sometime practice writing. I hope the next ships to come to you; in the mean space and ever, the Lord be all your direction, and turn all our crosses and troubles to his own glory, and our comforts, and give you to walk so wisely, and holily, as none may justly say, but they have always found you honestly minded, though never so poor. Salute all our friends, and supply, I pray you, what, if failing in my letters. From London, December 22, A.D. 1624.

Thus were his last letters. And now we lost the help of a wise and faithful friend, he wrote of the sickness, and probability of the death of another; but knew not that his own was so near, what cause have we therefore ever to be ready! He purposed to be with us the next ships, but the Lord did otherwise dispose; and had appointed him a greater journey, to a better place. He was now taken from these troubles intowhich (by this division) we were so deeply plunged. And heer I must leave him to rest with the Lord. And will proceed to other letters which will further shew our proceedings and how things went on.

Gov. Bradford to Mr. Cushman.

Loving and kind friend, I most heartily thank you; and would be right glad to see you here, with many other of our old and dear friends, that we might strengthen, and comfort one another, after our many troubles, travels, and hardships. I long greatly for friends of Leyden, but I fear, I shall now scarce ever see them, save in heaven; but the will of the Lord be done. We have rid ourselves of the company of many of those, who have been so troublesome unto us; though I fear we are not yet rid of the troubles themselves. I hear Culdom * comes himself into England; the which if he do, beware of him, for he is very malicious, and much threatens you; thinking he hath some advantage by some words you have spoken. Touching his factious doings here, and our proceedings with him, I refer you for it, and many other things to the relations of Captain Standish, whom we have thought most meet for sundry reasons, to send at this time. I pray you be as helpful to him as you can; especially in making our provisions, for therein he hath the least skill.

We have sent by this first ship, a good parcel of commodities, to wit: As much beaver and other furs, as will amount to upwards of £277, sterling, at the rates they were sold the last year. In part of payment of those goods, they and you sent to be sold to us. But except we may have things, both more serviceable, and at better rates, we shall never be able to rub through; therefore if we could have some ready money disbursed to buy things at the best hand, it would be greatly in our way. Special care is to be had of procuring us good trucking stuff, for without it we can do nothing; the reason why heretofore we have got so little is, because we never had any that was good till Mr. Winslow brought some over.

Our people will never agree, any way again to unite with the Company; who have cast them off with such reproach and contempt; and also returned their bills, and all debts upon their heads. But as for those our loving friends, who have, and still do stick to us, and are deeply engaged for us, and are most careful of our goods, for our parts we will ever be ready to do any thing, that shall be thought equal and mete.

But I think it will be best to press, a clearance with the company; either by coming to a dividend, or some other indifferent course or composition; for the longer we hang and continue in this confused and lingering condition, the worse it will be, for it takes away all heart and courage, from men, to do any thing. For notwithstanding any persuasion to the contrary, many protest they will never build houses, fence grounds. or plant fruits for those, who not only forsake them, but use them as enemies, lading them with reproach and contumely. Nay they will rather ruin that, which is done, than they should possess it. Whereas if they knew what they should trust to, the place would quickly grow and flourish with plenty, for they never felt the sweetness of the country till this year; and not only we but all planters in the land begin to do it. Let us be as little engaged about fishing, or any other projects, as you can, to draw us away from our own employments for they will be the most beneficial unto us. I suppose to spend our own salt and to employ as many of our own boats as we can, will be best for us. If we had but kept two a trading this year, it would have been twice as good as our fishing; though I hope the ships will return with good voyages.

Your son and all of us, are in good health, (blessed be God) he received the things you sent him. I hope God will make him a good man. My wife remembers her love unto you, and thanks you for her spice. Billington still rails against you, and threatens to arrest you, I know not wherefore; he is a knave, and so will live and die. Mr. John Pearce wrote he would make a parliamentary matter, about our grand patent, I pray you wish our friends to look to it, for I mistrust him, I perceive there passeth intelligence between Mr. Weston, and him, by means of Mr. Hix. He is come again hither, and is not yet quiet about that £100. The Lord hath so graciously disposed, that when our opposites thought, that many would have followed their faction, they so distasted their palpable dishonest dealings, that they stuck more firmly unto us, and joined themselves to the Church. But time cuts me off, for other things; I refer you to my other more general, and larger letters, and so with my renewed salutations, and best love remembered unto you. I commend you and all our affairs, to the guidance of the Most High, and so rest, your assured loving friend,

WILLIAM BRADFORD.

New-Plymouth, June 9, 1625.
[Mr. Cushman died before this letter arrived.]

Next follows a letter to the Council of New England, wherein their help was supplicated.

To the right Honourable his Majesty's Council for New England these be, &c.

Right Honourable, June 28, A.D. 1625.

The assurance we have of your noble dispositions to releave the oppressions of the innocent, doth cause us to fly unto you, as to a sanctuary, in this our just cause. It hath pleased the divine Providence to bring us into this place where we inhabit under your government, wherein we now have resided almost these five years, having put some life, into this then dreaded, design, made way for others and to all that are here, have been and still are their bulwark and defence.

Many necessities we have undergone, incident to the raw, and immature beginnings of such great exertions, and yet are subject to many more. We are many people, consisting of all sorts, as well women children, as men; and are now left, and forsaken of our adventurers, who will neither supply us with necessaries for our subsistence, nor suffer others that would be willing; neither can we be at liberty to deal with others, or provide for ourselves, but they keep us tied to them, and yet they will be loose from us; they have not only cast us off, but entered into particular course of trading, and have by violence, and force, taken at their pleasure, our possession at Cape Ann. Traducing us with unjust, and dishonest clammours abroad, disturbing our peace at home; and some of them threatening, that if ever we grow to any good estate they will then nip us in the head. Which discouragements do cause us to slack our diligence, and care to build and plant, and cheerfully perform our other employments, not knowing for whom we work whether friends or enemies.

Our humble suit therefore to your good lordships and honours is, that seeing they have so unjustly forsaken us, that you would vouchsafe to convene them before you, and take such order, as we may be free from them; and they come to a division with us, that we and ours may be delivered from their evil intents against us. So shall we comfortably go forward, with the work we have in hand, as first to God's glory, and the honour of our king; so to the good satisfaction of your honours, and for our present, common, and after good of our posterity. The prosecution of this, we have committed to our agent Captain Myles Standish, who attends your Honourable pleasures.

The great God of heaven and earth, who hath put into your hearts, to travail in this honourable action, strengthen your hearts and hands hereunto; and gave his blessing answerable to your worthy endeavours. In all humbleness we commit ourselves to your honourable direction and protection. And rest with the knowledge, consent and humble request of the whole plantation ever at commandment.

WILLIAM BRADFORD, Gov.

But by reason of the great plague which raged this year in London, of which so many thousands died weekly, Captain Standish could do nothing either with the Council of New England, or any other hereabout, for there was no Courts kept or scarce any commerce held, the city being in a sort desolate, by the fervent pestilence, and flight of so many. So as he was forced to return; having by the help of some friends (with much ado, and great both trouble and peril to himself) procured a convenient supply; which he brought with him to save our greatest necessities.

A Letter of Mr. Fletcher's, showing his great loss of the little James; she and the beaver in her, which was sent for the goods we bought the other year, being for the most part his; and was taken by the Turks to his utter undoing.

To his loving friends Mr. BRADFORD, Mr. ALLERTON, and Mr. WINSLOW, salutations, &c.

London, November 25, 1625.

My last unto you, was of the death of Mr. Robinson and what else then needful, since which I have received divers letters from you, and perceive at large what things you want, and do desire, and with what grievances you have been oppressed. And had the Lord so disposed, as to have sent us the pinace home, no doubt myself would have seen you well supplied; and some of your grievances should have been removed, but so it is, that all power therein to do you good, is wholly (by God's providence) taken from me. And so I much fear, that this year you will hardly be able to do yourselves, or your friends much good, but patience, &c.

And for other affairs either touching myself, and my necessities I am put unto, besides disgrace and reproach from many; as also touching the rest of our adventurers, who fall from me like the water brooks, as Job complains. I say for all these things, and many more here passed, I refer you to your Agent, and my loving friend, Captain Standish, who can certify you all things at large; as also of the feigned and perfidious dealings of Mr. John Peirce towards me, and others, who now hath manifest himself, at least to some, not to mind that good for you, or us, as was fit, and oft pretended. But all these things, they come from God for diverse reasons as first, to humble us, and subdue our corruption; 2d, to win us from the world. to add unto our joy to come. 4th, to shew forth the great power, goodness and mercy of our God, in preserving us in, and delivering us out of the same. Wherefore let us be patient, and thankful without murmuring, Amen, Amen. And so with my hearty well wishes for you all, and your general good; for which I shall often approach to the throne of grace, and expect the like from you, and so I leave you with this salutation, fare you well, my brethren all, fare you well; and God of grace and peace, bless you, and your posterities to the coming of Jesus Christ. Amen.

> Your loving friend, in what I can. THOMAS FLETCHER.

GOVERNOR JOSIAH WINSLOW'S WILL AND INVENTORY.

Transcribed from the Original Records,

By George Ernest Bowman.

GOVERNOR JOSIAH WINSLOW, son of Governor Edward Winslow, died at Marshfield on 18/28 December, 1680. His will and inventory are recorded in the Plymouth Colony Wills and Inventories, Volume IV, Part II, pages 115, 116 and 117.

To all Christian people to whome these preents shall Come Josiah Winslow of Marshfeild in the Colony of New plymouth in New England sendeth greeting In the Lord god everlasting, And further Know yee. That I the said Josiah Winslow being by ye goodnes of God in Competent health, and of sound memory, but sensable of my fraylety, and that I am subject to suddayne Changes. Revooking hereby any other or former will by me at any time made, doe declare and order this to be my last will and Testament.

Imp<sup>r</sup>mis I bequeath my body to the dust in decent buriall, And my soul to god that gave it, with some Comfortable perswasion of my resurrection to life and glory at the great and last day. And respecting the temporall estate wherewith it hath pleased god to bless me, My will and desier is, that all my Just debts be truely and seasonably paied and discharged

by my Executrix that shall hereafter be declared

Item I give to my loveing sister Elyzabeth Corwin * my pockett watch, that was sometimes our honored fathers

Item I doe hereby Confirme unto my Kinsman John Brook (son to my said sister) all those my lands that are on pachaeg neck in the Township of Middlebery with the meadows and previledges thereunto appertaining and a hundred acres more of land layed out to me on the northerly side of Teticut River to him and to his heirs for ever.

Item I give unto my Brother Resolved White a suat and Cloak of my wearing aparrell.

Item I give to my Brother Peregrine White my spannish rapier & buffe belt with silver Claspes

Item I give to my kinsman William White a feather bed boulster rug blankett and a pair of sheets at what time he shall leave my wife & family

Item As a Testimony of my respect to her though in so smale a matter I give unto my Aunt Mrs Elyzabeth pelham two mares

Item I give to my Brother Edward pelham if he returne againe to New England a young horse for his owne riding

Item I give to the Reverend M<sup>r</sup> Samuell Arnold such books of divinity as he now hath of mine in his possession & y<sup>e</sup> anotations on the bible by the asembly of English divines

Item I give to Elyzabeth Gray when she marrieth or leaves my wife one Cow.

Item I give to the poor of this Towne of Marshfeild one Cow.

And my debts and above mentioned legacies being paid, my will is That all the rest of my estate (viz) my houseing and lands goods Chattles and whatsoever be in the present posession and improvement of my affectionate and loveing wife Penelope Winslow (whome I here make and declare my sole Executrix) for her support and lively hood, And for the bringing up of our Children, To each of whome my desier and will is that good education may be given according to their sex and as my estate will bear

And I doe will and bequeath to my daughter Elyzabeth Winslow out of my sd estate the sum of three hundred pounds, besides what may be given her by any other frinds which three hundred pounds shall be paid to her at such time as she arives at eighteen yeers of age, or at the time of her marriage, which shall first be, if it may Conveniently be doone without selling any part of the lands wheron I live, or putting my wife and family too much to straytes, but if my wife find that she Cannot pay more then half the said sum of three hundred pounds at times above mentioned, Then my will is that the rest be paid at time of my wives decease, with ye addition of fifty pounds more for the forbearance.

And if it shall please god to lengthen out my wifes life untill our son Isack attaines to one & twenty yeers of age, My will is that the personall estate then resting (my daughters portion taken out as above) shall be equally devided between my dear wife and my said son, onely in all devisions my wife to have her Choyce, And my further will is, that as the personall estate shall be equally devided between my wife & my said son when he Comes of age, In like manner shall the house, out housing, and lands be equally devided between my wife and my said son during my wives naturall life, and that at my wives decease, The whole of my housen and lands at Marshfeild aforesaid shall be fully, freely, and absolutely to my said son Isack and to his heirs for ever, And if my said son should dye before he Come to age of one and twenty yeers not leaving lawfull issue by him begotten, or after he Comes of age if he dye without Issue (being yet posessed of the said estate) My will is, that then the estate of housen and lands shall as freely and absolutely goe unto, rest in, and settle upon my daughter Elyzabeth and her heirs for ever, but if god should take away both my above named Children, my dear wife yet surviveing [p. 116] My will is that then my whole estate shall be unto my said wife and to her heirs for ever she then paying within the Compass of a yeer, one hundred pounds in good and currant pay (viz) fifty ponds to my sisters son John Brooke if then liveing, or to his Child, or Children if he have any; And other fifty pounds to some other of my neer relations, who by their love and respect to her and hers, she shall see best deserving. And if John Brooke dye without issue the said fifty pounds not paid, that then it be paid to my sister Elyzabeth Corwin if liveing, or otherwise to some Child of hers by Captaine Georg Corwin her present husband

What other lands I have or may hereafter have at Succonett, or els where that I have not mentioned, nor disposed of I leave as Chattles at the free dispose of my Executrix, for paiment of my debts, or to make a part of my daughters portion or for other necessary occasions as she may see cause.

And my further will is that any thing above mentioned notwithstanding, It shall be lawfull for my said Executrix upon urgent necessity for the support and Comfort of her selfe and my Children, To sell a part of my lands at Marshfeild (whereon we now live) provided that a full halfe be reserved with the house and housen on it, And that in such matter of Importance she have the Concurrent advice and asistance of my overseers

And finally my request and desier is, That my respected Brother Captaine George Corwin my Cuzen Mr Peter Sergiant and my Cuzen Nathaniell Winslow will be pleased to guide and asist my said Executrix in such matters of importance as may be to weighty for her, And if any of my friends above named shall not accept of the trust which out of my good respect to them, I here nominate and appoint them unto or if after theire acceptance god should remove any of them by death or otherwise that they cannott in such a way be helpfull to her; My desier is that my wife choose some other grave and faithfull freind to supply his place for her Comfort and my childrens, In Confirmation of all and every the premises I have hereunto sett my hand and afixed my seal this second day of July in the yeer of our Lord 1675

Signed sealed and declared

THE DIARY OF JABEZ FITCH, JR.

Fort = Edward July 29th 1757 In ye Morning ye Post Came in I Recd a Letter From Sister Rudd & another From Mr Wight &c—this Day I also Wrote to My Father—Gen<sup>ll</sup> Webb Came Back from ye Lake ye 30th I Remaind Much Not well in ye Morning I Tock a Portion of Rheubarb — It worked Vary well

Sunday ye 31st Nothing Strang Hapened . at Night I Se Serjt Burrows of ye Indipendant & Serjt Giles over at ye Garden and Had Considrable Discorce with them &c.

August ye 1st Serjt Burrows of Capt: Crookshanks Company Toock Up John Stimson of Capt: Slapps who Deserted their Servis & Changd His Name from Spooner—He Radily Confest & Returnd to ye old Servis &c This afternoon John Bennet our old Friend Came Up Here on a Command & Paid Us a Visit He Staid with Us at Night &c—ye 2nd ye Morning I Spent with Bennet till 8 oClok — then

He went of for Saratoge.

A Detach Ment of ye Royal Amaricans Capt: Crookshanks Independant Company & the Massachusets Regt Marchd off for Ft Wm Henry they were Under ye Command of Lieut Col: Young of ye 60th Regt they Carryd Several Pieces of ye Ordnance with them &c - Soon After this Detachment Went off we were orderd to To Move our Tents about which we Spent Most of ye Day - Near Night we Pitchd our Tents where ye Massachusetts Regt Movd from - This Day Lieut Porter Died At Night ye Serjt Majr Desired me to Get My arms and Appear on ye Perad for He Didnt Know But He Should Want a Serjt So I Went Expecting Twas For ye New Piqt But when I Came there they Put Me on ye Mounting Piqt So I was obligd to Go on Directly & ye Serjt Majr Sent Me No Relief according to His Promus Neither - Capt: Porter of ye Granadear Company in ye 60th Regt is officer of this Piqt He Had a Number of their officers with Him till 11 oClok & By that time they were Most of them fit for Sleep - Then we Hered 2 Guns Fired at ye Brickills Lt Humphires & I went With a Party of 12 Men to Know what ye Matter was we Came there ye Officer Told Us a Smooth Story about a Sentry Discoverying ye Enimy

&c. But we Returnd then ye Capt: Orderd ye Lt & I To Double ye Sentries & then He Orderd Us to Go ye Rounds Constantly till after ye Morning Gun Fired Never Allowing Us to Go to ye Tents

ye 3rd I Hered ye Morning Gun Fire at ye Lake Before ours—a little after Sun Rise we Here ye Cannon Fire Briskly at ye Lake and also ye Small arms we Immediately Contluded that they were Attacted—This Firing Lasted Most of ye Day—about 9 oClok there Came Down a Post what News He Brought was Not Soon Known By Us only that ye Fort was Attacted ye Post was Sent Direct Down to Albony Several Partys were Sent Up to ye Lake to Make Discovery of their Circumstances there at Night one Colyar of Capt: Gallups Company Brought in a French man that He Toock a Little Below Ft Wm Henry as He was Dresing an ox—at Night ye Fireing Seased at ye Lake our Piqt was Dismised and a New one Mounted with in ye Lines ve 4th In ve Morning I Felt Better than I Had for Som time I Tock a Sirvay of ye Camp & what Preparation we were In & Makeing to Receive ye Enimy &c: The Cannon Soon Begun to Play at ye Lake — I Hear By ye Prisoner that Colyar Brought in that the French Have Got a Vary Strong army against Fort Wm Henry He Said there was 6000 Ragulars & 5000 Canadians & if it was Neaded they Had 6000 French Helanders to Join them they Had also Near 30 Pieses of artilery - But this account was Not all'Intirely Credited - In ye Afternoon there was But Little Firing at ye Lake - ye Several Detachments: that we Sent Down to Relieve ye Forts Below Us Came Up to Join Us - Joseph Johnsons Scout Came in Several Men Got in that Had Ben to Make Discovery at ye Lake &c. Toard Night I went over to ye Island to Se our Sick Found Corpl Andrus Exceeding Poor almost without any Sence ---

This Night we was alarmd By a Sentry of ye Piqt who Fired at an Indion as He Said—we were all Turnd out But after Some Time Returnd in again -

· ye 5th Before Sunrise We Heard ye Canon Play Vary Brisk at ye Lake Soon after ye Small arms Began to Fire this Firing Lasted all Day without Much Ceasing it was Contluded that this Day there was ye Most Ammunition Expended that Ever was in a Day at that Plais Before—Several Posts Came in from ye Lake this Day what News they Brought was Not Known to Us But we Understand that this Morning ye Enimy Had Not Got their artilery to Bair Upon them—also that our Men Had Burst their Largest Morter & one 18 Pounder — But they Had Lost But few Men and Kept in Good Spirits &c —

ZACHARIAH<sup>2</sup> SOULE'S INVENTORY.

Transcribed from the Original Records,

BY GEORGE ERNEST BOWMAN.

Zachariah<sup>2</sup> Soule (George<sup>1</sup>) was born before the Division of Cattle on 22 May /1 June, 1627,* and it is probable that he died not long before 11/21 December, 1663, the date on which his inventory was taken by John Alden and Constant Southworth. His widow, Margaret, was appointed administratrix, since her bond, dated 2 March, 1663/4, is preserved in the "Scrap Book" (p. 20) at the Plymouth Registry of Deeds. William Ford, Sr., of Marshfield was her surety and John Sutton and John Morton were the witnesses.

I have been unable to find any other record connected with the settlement of this estate and nothing to indicate that Zachariah left any children.

The inventory will be found in the Plymouth Colony Wills and Inventories, Volume II, Part II, page 18.

An Inventory of the goods and Chattles of Zacarya Soule taken this 11th of December 1663 and exhibited to the court held att Plymouth the third of March 1663 on the oath of Margarett Soule widdow;

SAMUEL HATCH'S WIFE MARY, THE DAUGHTER OF EDWARD DOTY.

Communicated by THEODORE S. LAZELL.

From the nuncupative will of Faith Phillips, former wife of Edward¹ Doty, and the settlement of her estate, as previously printed,† it appears that she left three daughters, Desire Sherman, Elizabeth Rouse and Mary Doty, and that John Rouse, Jr., of Marshfield, was appointed administrator "in the behalfe of him selfe his wife and Sisters." William Sherman married Desire Doty 25 December /4 January, 1667/8, and John Rouse married Elizabeth Doty 13/23 January, 1674/5,‡ but nowhere, as yet, has any record of a marriage of Mary² Doty been found, and no intimation that she survived has heretofore been given in genealogical publications, beyond the fact that she was alive and unmarried on 10/20 July, 1677, the date of the Court order regarding the settlement of her mother's estate.

It is the purpose of this article to present evidence recently found, which proves conclusively that she married Samuel Hatch of Scituate. The following receipts are literally copied from Plymouth Colony Deeds, IV: 345:—

I Samuell Hatch of Scittuate Doe heerby Acknowlidge that I have received all that which was Due to mee by vertue of my wife from John Rouse of Marshfeild, and Doe heerby Acknowlidge my selfe fully satisfyed Contented and payed and therof Doe and of every pre and prsell therof Doe exownarate Acquitt and Discharge the aforsaid Rouse of and from all Debts Dues Claimes or Demaunds from the begining of the world unto this Day It being the 28th Day of ffebruary 1679.

Witnes Josiah Holmes Benjamine Sampson Samuell Hatch

Know all men whom it May Concerne that I Desire Sherman of the Towne of Marshfeild Doe wholy Discharge John Rouse of the same Towne, of the Legacyes which was Due to mee by vertue of my Mothers Will and by order of the Court; I Doe heerby Give the said John Rouse a Whole Discharge from the beging of the world to this Day; In witnes heerunto I have sett My hand this third of June 1680:

Desire Sherman her mark

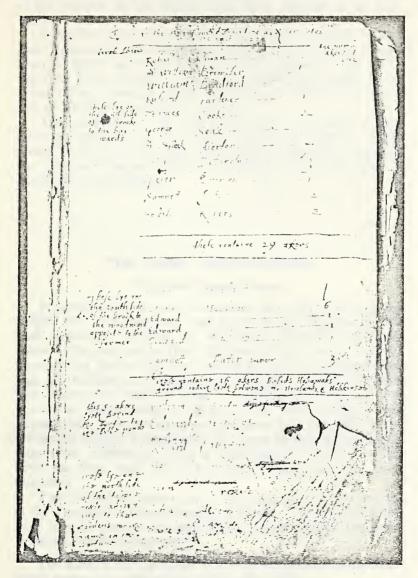

The phraseology of Samuel Hatch's receipt, taken by itself, is too indefinite to warrant the conclusion I have drawn. But it must be considered that both receipts were recorded on the same page and at the same time; also, that the probate records show that the only estate of which John Rouse was then administrator was that of Faith Phillips.

Corroborative evidence is found in a deed dated 7/18 June, 1700, and recorded 15/26 May, 1730, in Plymouth County Deeds, XXV: 120, whereby Joseph Doty of Rochester conveyed to John White of the same place, the forty acre sea-lot numbered 10, "by Me Purchased of Samuel Hatch my Brother being made over to him by his Father Hatch & did belong to Mr Thomas Hinckley in the first Purchase of sd Rochester Lands."

In "The Doty-Doten Family," published in 1897 (page 627), the author, by an unfortunate use of pronouns in a reference to this deed, draws the erroneous conclusion that Joseph Doty's wife was a sister of Samuel Hatch.

A brief genealogy of the Hatch family of Scituate, published in 1874, by the late Perley Derby of Salem, gives the births of nine children of Samuel<sup>3</sup> Hatch (Walter<sup>2</sup>, William<sup>1</sup>) and an abstract of his will, but states that the name of his wife is unknown. That her given name was Mary is shown by the record of her baptism in the Second Church at Scituate in the year 1679.

It has been shown that Faith Phillips had a daughter Mary<sup>2</sup> Doty (Edward<sup>1</sup>); that Samuel Hatch of Scituate had a wife Mary in 1679; and that, in 1680, he receipted for his wife's share of Faith Phillips' estate. It is therefore evident that Samuel Hatch married Mary<sup>2</sup> Doty between 10/20 July, 1677, and 28 February /10 March, 1679/80.

The discovery of the clue which led to the proof of this marriage, opening up, as it does, many new lines of "Mayflower" descent, is due to the work already accomplished through the Colonial Research Fund of the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants.

THE NAME "MAYFLOWER."

By George Ernest Bowman.

It seems almost a waste of valuable time and space to again publish the proof that the vessel in which the Pilgrims set sail from Plymouth, England, on Wednesday, September 16, 1620 (New Style), was called the "Mayflower," but careless writers, because they do not find the name in any of the published writings of Bradford or Winslow, have jumped to the conclusion that such proof does not exist. Although the evidence was printed at least as early as 1861, and has been printed a number of times since, very few persons have had the privilege of seeing the original record, which is shown in the accompanying illustration, reproduced from a photograph. This is, we believe, the first time that a facsimile of this record has been published.

The illustration shows the fourth page of the first volume of the Plymouth Colony Records of Deeds. At the top of the page may be seen, in the well-known handwriting of Governor

Bradford, the following entry:

The fales of their grounds which came first over in the May-floure according as thier lotes were cast . 1623.

This entry by Governor Bradford himself, in the oldest volume of the Plymouth Colony Records and written in 1623 or soon after that date, must be accepted as conclusive evidence that the Pilgrim ship was called the "Mayflower."

The earliest known mention of the name in print occurs in Nathaniel Morton's "New England's Memorial," published in 1660, and it is interesting to note that, as Secretary of Plymouth Colony from 1647 to his death in 1685, he had the custody of the records and made many entries in this first volume of deeds. He must, therefore, have been familiar with Bradford's record of the Division of Land in 1623, in which he doubtless took a lively interest as a boy of about ten years. Since Nathaniel Morton came to Plymouth with his father in the "Anne" but a few months before this division was made he must have been personally acquainted with nearly one-half of the Mayflower passengers, and two of them, John Howland and Mary (Allerton) Cushman, were still living at Plymouth when his book was written, so that even if the records had not been in his care he certainly was in a position to know the name of the first ship, and his statement of the name should have been accepted in the entire absence of any contradictory evidence.

RICHARD CHURCH'S WILL AND INVENTORY.

Transcribed from the Original Records,

By George Ernest Bowman.

RICHARD CHURCH was born about 1608* and died at Dedham, Mass., 27 December, 1668 (O. S.), and was buried at Hingham, where he had resided for some years. The Dedham records give the date of his death as 26 December, but the Hingham records [I:17], Hobart's Diary and Cushing's Manuscript all give it as 27, and as that day was Sunday, Hobart's entry under date of 27 December is conclusive. It reads "Richard Church dyed at Dedham Sab: day erly In the morning."

His wife Elizabeth, the daughter of Richard Warren of the Mayflower, survived him and died at Hingham 9 March, 1669/70.

[Town Records, I:20]

The will is recorded in the Suffolk County Probate Records at Boston, Volume VI, page 21, and the inventory in Volume V, page 116. The original documents are not in the files.

I Richard Church of Hingham in the County of Suffolke in new England through the Goodnes & mercy of God, having my perfect understanding yet by the Providence of God at present visited by sicknes of body, I how soone my change may come I know not, therefore Order this my last will & Testament as followeth - ffirst I Commit my soule unto Jesus Christ my Redeemer, & my body to the dust from whence it Came — And my mind & will is that after the decease of my body & the decent buriall thereof a true Inventory of my Estate in the Portion of the Goods of this World that the Lord hath lent mee may bee made & all my just debts due out of the same bee pajd - And then my mind & will is that my beloved wife Elizabeth Church shall Enjoy the Remainder during her naturall life - And when it shall please God that shee shall leave this naturall life - my mind & will is that what Estate I shall leave to her, that shall not bee necessarily Expended for her maintenance, shall then bee Equally divided amongst my children only my sonn Joseph to have a dubble Portion that is twice soe much as any on of the rest of my children, by reason of the

PILGRIM NOTES AND QUERIES.

Notes.

Truro, Mass., VITAL RECORDS. The work of copying the vital records of Truro is nearly completed and the greater part of the first volume is already in type. It is estimated that the funds now in hand will cover the expense of completing the copy of the records, consequently every gift or advance payment for a copy of the book hereafter received can be applied directly to the work of printing. The rest of the manuscript will be put into the printer's hands as rapidly as the funds will warrant.

It is important to bear in mind that subscribers for copies of the book who remit with their order will save one dollar and also hasten the date of publication. The price of the book will be $4.00, but those who pay in advance of publication will be allowed a discount of one dollar, getting their copies for $3.00 each.

The index is being prepared as fast as the printed pages are made up, thus making the records immediately accessible, and also making it possible to put the manuscript of the index into the hands of the printer within a very short time after the last page of the records is in type. This will materially hasten the publication of the book.

The Publication Committee is doing everything within its power to bring about the publication of the book at the earliest possible date, and once more appeals to all interested in the records of Truro, or any other Cape Cod town, to assist the work by gifts or by advance subscriptions. As soon as the Truro book has been issued work on another Cape Cod town will be started. All communications should be addressed to the Editor of "The Mayflower Descendant."

EASTHAM, ORLEANS, PROVINCETOWN AND WELLFLEET VITAL RECORDS. The town of Orleans, incorporated in 1797, was formerly a part of the town of Eastham. Since the time of the division the records of the original town of Eastham have been kept at Orleans, but a recent law provides for their return to the custody of the Town Clerk of Eastham. These ancient records we have been publishing under the caption "Eastham and Orleans, Mass., Vital Records" since they cover the territory which is now two distinct towns. We shall continue to publish these records in "The Mayflower Descendant" until the condition of the "Cape Cod Town Record Fund" warrants publishing the records of each town in a separate book. When so published the Eastham book will contain the entries from the original records (now at Orleans) down to 1797 and the records now at Eastham down to 1850. The Orleans book will contain the vital records of the present town of Orleans, from its incorporation in 1797, down to 1850.

We are now prepared to receive subscriptions for the Eastham, Orleans, Provincetown and Wellfleet books. Every subscription will hasten the carrying out of our plans for printing the vital records of all the Cape Cod towns. The prices of the books will be as follows: Eastham, $4.00 ($3.00 if paid in advance of publication); Orleans, $3.00 ($2.00 if paid in advance); Provincetown, $4.00 ($3.00 if paid in advance); Wellfleet, $4.00 ($3.00 if paid in advance).

MEMORIAL EDITION OF BREWSTER, MASS., VITAL RECORDS. One third of the limited edition has been subscribed for at present writing. This edition will contain, in addition to the vital records of the town, sketches of Elder Brewster and of the town, and numerous interesting and valuable illustrations, the whole making a book which will be an honor both to the town and to the person for whom it was named, and one which any descendant from Elder Brewster or from any former inhabitant of the town will be proud to own. Since but 150 copies, each one numbered and signed, are to be issued, the book is sure to increase in value rapidly.

Subscriptions will be received from any one, whether descended from Elder Brewster or not. Subscriptions for the Memorial Edition will not be accepted unless accompanied by a remittance. The price of this edition is $3.00, payable strictly in advance. The price of the regular edition, which will contain nothing but the vital records of the town, will be $2.00 ($1.00 if paid in advance of publication). All communications should be addressed to the Editor.

It is expected that the copying of these records will be completed before this number of "The Mayflower Descendant" reaches our subscribers, but the copy will not be put into the hands of the printer until the amount received from gifts and subscriptions is sufficient to ensure the success of the undertaking.

One hundred sets of Bowman's Ancestral Charts and five copies of the Freeman Genealogy have been donated to be sold and the receipts applied towards the expense of this memorial to the ancestor of the donor. For particulars see our advertising pages.

CAPE COD TOWN RECORD FUND. Contributions received: John W. P. Lombard, Milwaukee, Wis., $15.00; Francis R. Allen, Boston, $10.00. Advance payments for copies of Eastham, Orleans, Provincetown, Truro and Wellfleet books, $131.00; Previously acknowledged, $208.00; Total receipts, $364.00.

COLONIAL RESEARCH FUND. Contributions received: George Ernest Bowman, $100.00 (Additional receipts from sales of Bowman's Ancestral Charts and Freeman Genealogies, as advertised.); Mr. Henry E. Waite, West Newton, $15.00; Mr. Edward H. Whorf, Boston, $10.00; Mrs. John H. Derby, Sandy Hill, N. Y., $10.00; Mrs. Charles L. Seabury, Yonkers, N. Y., $5.00; Mrs. William P. Weyman, Fitchburg, $3.00; Mrs. William

P. Hammond, Boston, $3.00; W. L. Kingman, Yonkers, N. Y., $3.00; Mrs. Charles R. Brayton, Providence, R. I., $2.50; Mr. James Shepard, New Britain, Conn., $2.00; Total, $153.50.

QUERIES.

[Queries are inserted for Subscribers only, and are strictly limited to Pilgrim subjects. Those which can be answered by study of easily accessible printed records, genealogies, &-c., cannot be inserted. Answers should be sent to the Editor, for publication.]

- 48. THE NAME "COMPACT." When was the name "Compact" first applied to the agreement drawn up on the Mayflower before the Pilgrims landed at Cape Cod? The earliest date I have found is 1814. E. G. T.
- 49. MAYO. The will of Andrew Ring [Mayflower Descendant, IV: 193] mentions his daughter "Elizabeth Mayo late of Eastham, deceased," also her son John and her daughters, the daughters not being named. Who was the husband of Elizabeth, and who were the daughters? Did the son John or the daughters leave descendants?

BOOK NOTES.

The Litchfield Family in America. Part I, No. 1. By Wilford J. Litchfield, M.S. 8vo. paper, pp. 104. Price, $1.50. For sale by the compiler, at Southbridge, Mass.

This genealogy is being issued in parts, the one before us containing the first three generations of the descendants of Lawrence Litchfield of Barnstable and Scituate, in Plymouth Colony. The pamphlet shows the results of careful and systematic research. A most valuable feature is the large number of wills and deeds which are printed in full, and the unusually numerous abstracts of other original records and of unrecorded deeds. This work is an important addition to the literature relating to Plymouth Colony and will be of interest to nearly every one who is descended from old Scituate families.

The Indian Sagamore, Samoset. By Albert Matthews. Reprinted from The Publications of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, Volume VI.

In this interesting pamphlet of sixteen pages the author has collected all known references to the names "Samoset" and "Capt. John Somerset," from which he draws the conclusion that the two names referred to the same person and that "Somerset" was a corruption of the man's Indian name "Samoset."

MOSES MAVERICK'S WILL AND INVENTORY AND THE SETTLEMENT OF HIS ESTATE.

Transcribed from the Original Documents and Records,

By George Ernest Bowman.

Moses Maverick of Marblehead, Mass., which was originally a part of Salem, is called the son-in-law of Isaac Allerton in the Records of the Massachusetts Bay Colony * as early as 6 May, 1635; from Bradford's History we learn that Allerton's daughter Remember was married and living at Salem in 1651 and had three or four children; and from the Salem records we know that Maverick had four children living at the time Bradford wrote. In the entire absence of any evidence to the contrary there can be, therefore, no doubt that before 6 May, 1635, Moses Maverick had married Remember Allerton, who came over with her parents in the Mayflower.

But we do not have to depend solely on the evidence mentioned for proof of this marriage. Among the documents relating to the settlement of Maverick's estate on file in the Essex County Registry of Probate at Salem † is the appointment, on 22 September, 1693, of Edward Woodman as guardian of his children Remember and John to receive their share of their grandfather Maverick's estate. On the back of this document is endorsed the following: "Daughters of Moses & Rember Maverick. Abigail Wards Children Eliza Skinner Remember Woodm<sup>n</sup> dec<sup>d</sup> her Child. Mary Ferguson Sarah Norman." The illustration shows the exact size of the original endorsement, which establishes beyond dispute the fact that Moses Maverick married Remember Allerton.*

Moses Maverick died at Marblehead 28 January, 1685/6.† His will, which he had not signed, was presented for probate at the court held at Ipswich 30 March, 1686, but some of the children objected to its allowance and the case was postponed to the next court to be held at Salem. The next record found is at Boston, 15 July, 1686, when the widow Eunice (Maverick's second wife) was appointed administratrix. The will and inventory with the bond of the administratrix and the depositions of Gale, Ferguson and Norman are on file in the Suffolk County Registry of Probate ‡ at Boston, and the original documents have been used in making the copies here presented.

The administratrix evidently neglected her duties, for Edward Woodman petitioned the court held at Ipswich 22 April, 1691, to order an accounting, claiming that nothing had as yet been done towards settling the estate, and Mrs. Maverick was ordered to bring in her account at the court to be held at Salem 30 June, 1691.§ Mrs. Maverick presented herself as ordered, but Woodman failed to appear and prosecute his case.

On the twenty-ninth of September Woodman again sought an accounting and Mrs. Maverick was ordered to appear at the court to be held at Salem 30 November, 1691. This time Woodman was obliged to give bonds for his appearance. The September petition is similar to the one presented in April, but contains a little more information and for that reason has been printed instead of the earlier one, the copy being made from the original document.

The next record found is under date of 22 September, 1693, when, as already shown, Remember and John Woodman chose their father Edward Woodman as their guardian, and he must have promptly made another demand for an accounting by the *Many have been misled by an article in the N. E. Historical and Genealogical Register (VIII: 265) in which the author stated, without quoting any authority, that Moses Maverick married Sarah Allerton, and that Remember probably died unmarried or without issue. The article appeared in 1854, before Bradford's History was discovered. Long and diligent research by the present writer has failed to produce a single contemporary record to show that Moses Maverick at any time had a wife Sarah, and even those who claim that he married Sarah Allerton do not furnish any contemporary evidence to substantiate their claim.

administratrix, for on 13 November, 1693, Mrs. Maverick was granted more time.

The next record is dated five years later, 29 November, 1698, when a final agreement of the heirs was signed. This agreement is copied in full from the original on file at Salem.*

MAJOR JOHN FREEMAN'S WILL AND INVENTORY AND THE AGREEMENT OF HIS HEIRS.*

Transcribed from the Original Records,

By George Ernest Bowman.

MAJOR JOHN FREEMAN died at Eastham and was buried by the side of his wife Mercy, who was the daughter of Governor Thomas Prence by his first wife Patience<sup>2</sup> Brewster (Elder William<sup>1</sup>). The inscriptions on the two gravestones read as follows:

HERE LYES THE BODY OF MAJOR JOHN FREE-MAN DEC<sup>D</sup> OCTOBER Ye 28th 1719 IN Ye 98th YEAR OF HIS AGE

HERE LYES BURIED Y' BODY OF MARCY FREEMAN WIFE TO MAJOR JOHN FREEMAN AGED 80 YEARS DECD SEPT Y' 28th 1711

Major John Freeman's will was written I June, 1716, and a codicil was added 16 June, 1718. The will was probated 10 November, 1719, and the controversy that had arisen between the heirs was settled by an agreement signed 27 January, 1719/20.

The will and inventory are found in the Barnstable County Probate Records, Volume III, pages 527-530, and the agreement is on pages 597-599 of the same volume.

GOVERNOR BRADFORD'S LETTER BOOK.

I WILL next insert some letters from our friends at Leyden, written this year; and first, a letter of Mr. White's to myself, in which the heavy tidings of our beloved and able pastor's death and the manner of it, is declared.

To his loving friend, Mr. WILLIAM BRADFORD, Governour of Plymouth, in New England, these be, &c.

Loving and kind friends, &c. I know not whether ever this will come to your hands, or miscarry, as other of my letters have done; yet in regard of the Lord's dealing with us here, I have had a great desire to write unto you; knowing your desire to bear a part with us, both in our joys and sorrows, as we do with you.

These therefore are to give you to understand, that it hath pleased the Lord to take out of this veil of tears, your, and our loving and faithful pastor, and my dear brother, Mr. John Robinson, who was sick some, eight days, beginning first to be sick on a Saturday morning, yet the next day, being the Lord's day he taught us twice, and the week after grew every day weaker, than other, yet felt no pain but weakness, all the time of his sickness; the physick he took wrought kindly, in man's judgment, yet he grew every day weaker than other, feeling little or no pain, yet sensible, till the very last. Who fell sick the twenty second of February, and departed this life the first of March. He had a continual inward ague, which brought the but I thank the Lord, was free of the plague, so that all his friends could come freely to him. And if either prayers, tears, or means would have saved his life, he had not gone hence. But he having faithfully finished his course, and performed his work, which the Lord had appointed him here to perform; he now rests with the Lord, in eternal happiness. We wanting him and all church Governours, not having one at present that is a governing officer amongst us. Now for ourselves here left (I mean the whole Chruch) we still, by the mercy of God, continue and hold close together in peace and quietness, and so I hope we shall do though we be very weak; wishing (if such were the will of God) that you and we were again together in one, either there or here, but seeing it is the will of the Lord, thus to dispose of things, we must labour with patience to rest contented till it please the Lord otherwise to dispose of things.

For news at present here, is not much worth the writing, only as in England we have lost our old King who departed this life about a month ago, so here we have lost Grave Morrice. the old Prince here, who both departed this life, since my brother Robinson; and as in England we have a new King, Charles, of whom there is great hope of good; the King is making ready about one hundred sail of ships, the end is not yet certain, but they will be ready to go to sea very shortly; the King himself goes to see them once in fourteen days. So here likewise we have made Prince Hendrick General, in his brother's place, who is now with the Grave of Mansfield with a great army, close by the enemy, to free Breda, if it be possible, which the enemy hath besieged now some nine or ten months; but how it will fall out at last, is yet uncertain, the Lord give good success if it be his will. And thus fearing lest this will not come to your hands, hoping as soon as I hear of a convenient messenger, to write more at large, and to send you a letter which my brother Robinson sent to London; to have gone to some of you, but coming too late, was brought back again. And so for this time I cease further to trouble you, and rest.

Your assured loving friend,

ROGER WHITE.

Leyden, April 28, Anno 1625.

A letter of Thomas Blossom's to myself and Mr. Brewster, touching the same thing, as followeth.

BELOVED SIR.

Kind salutations, &c. I have thought good to write to you, concerning the cause as it standeth both with you and us; we see, alas! what frustrations and disappointments it pleaseth the Lord to send in this our course, good in itself and according to godliness taken in hand and for good and lawful ends, who yet pleaseth not to prosper us we see, for reasons best known to himself: And which also nearly concerns us to consider of, whether we have sought the Lord in it, as we ought, or not; that the Lord hath singularly preserved life in the business to great admiration, giveth me good hope that he will (if our sins hinder not) in his appointed time, give a happy end unto it. On the contrary when I consider how it pleaseth the Lord to cross those means that should bring us together, being now as far off or farther than ever, in our apprehension; as also to take that means away, which would have been so comfortable unto us in that course, both for wisdom of council as also for our singular help ir, our course of godliness, whom the Lord (as it were) took away even as fruit falleth before it was ripe, (he means Mr. Robinson) when neither length of days, nor infirmity of body, did seem to call for his end. The Lord even then took him away, as it were in his anger, whom if tears would have held, he had remained to this day. The loss of his ministry was very great unto me, for I ever counted myself happy in the enjoyment of it, notwithstanding all the crosses and losses otherwise I sustained. Yet indeed the manner of his taking away hath more troubled me, as fearing the Lord's anger in it, that, as I said, in the ordinary course of things might still have remained, as also, the singular service he might have yet done in the church of God. Alas, dear friends, our state and cause in religion! by his death being wholly destitute of any that may defend our cause as it should against our adversaries. That we may take up that doleful complaint in the Psalm, that there is no prophet left among us, nor any that knoweth how long.

Alas! you would fain have had him with you, and he would as fain have come to you; many letters and much speech hath been about his coming to you, but never any solid course propounded for his going; if the course propounded the last year had appeared to have been certain, he would have gone though with two or three families. I know no man amongst us knew his mind better than I did, about those things; he was loath to leave the church, yet I know also, that he would have accepted the worst conditions which in the largest extent of a good conscience could be taken, to have come to you. For myself and all such others as have formerly minded coming, it is much what the same, if the Lord afford means. We only know how things are with you by your letters, but how things stand in England we have received no letters of any thing, and it was November before we received yours. If we come at all unto you, the means to enable us so to do must come from you. For the state of our church, and how it is with us and of our people, it is wrote of by Mr. White. Thus praying you to pardon my boldness with you in writing as I do, I commend you to the keeping of the Lord, desiring, if he see it good, and that I might be serviceable unto the business, that I were with you. God hath taken away my son, that was with me in the ship, when I went back again; I have only two children which were born since I left you: Fare you well.

Yours to his power,

THOMAS BLOSSOM.

Leyden, December 15, Anno 16:5.

To his very loving friend, Mr. William Bradford, Governour of Plymouth in New England, these be.

My loving and kind friend, and brother in the Lord; my own and my wife's true love and hearty salutations to yourself and yours and all the rest of our loving friends with you; hoping in the Lord of your good healths, which I beseech him long to continue for the glory of his name and good of his people. Concerning your kind letter to the church, it was read publicly; whereunto (by the church) I send you here inclosed an answer. Concerning my brother Robinson's sickness and death and our practice, I wrote you at large, some five or six months since; but lest it should miscarry, I have now written to Mr. Brewster thereof, to whom I refer you. Now concerning your course of choosing your Governours yearly, and in special of their choosing yourself year after year, as I conceive they still do, and Mr. Allerton your assistant; howsoever I think it the best way that can be, so long as it please the Lord to continue your lives, and so good Governours offer you; yet, considering man's mortality, whose breath is in his nostrils, and the evils of the times wherein we live, in which it is ordinarily seen that worse follow them that are good, I think it would be a safer course, for after time, the government was sometime removed from one to another; so the assistant one year might be Governour next and a new assistant chosen in his place, either of such as have or have not been in office; sometimes one, sometimes another, as it shall seem most fit to the corporation. reasons are, first, because other officers that come after you, will look (especially if they be ambitiously minded) for the same privileges and continuance you have had; and if he have it not, will take great offence, as though unworthy of the place, and so greatly disgraced, whom to continue, might be very dangerous, and hazard (at least) the overthrow of all; men not looking so much at the reasons why others were so long continued as at the custom. 2dly, because others that are unexperienced in government might learn by experience; and so there might be fit and able men continually, when it pleaseth the Lord to take any away. 3dly, by this means, you may establish the things begun, or done before; for the Governour this year, that was assistant last, will in likelihood, rather ratify and confirm, and go on with that he had a hand in the beginning of, when he was assistant, than otherwise, or persuade the new to it; whereas new Governours, especially when there are factions, will many times overthrow that which is done by the former, and so scarcely any thing goeth forward for the general good; neither that I see, can this be any prejudice to the corporation; for the new may always have the counsel and advice of the old, for their direction, though they be out of office; these things I make bold to put to your godly wisdom and discretion, intreating you to pardon my boldness therein; and so leave it to your discretion to make use of as you see it fitting, not having written the least inkling hereof to any other. Now I entreat you, at your best leisure to write to me, how you think it will in likelihood go with your civil and church estate; whether there be hope of the continuance of both, or either; or whether you fear any alteration to be attempted in either; the reason of this my request is, the fear of some amongst us (the which if that hinder not, I think will come unto you) occasioned partly by your letter to your father in law, Mr. May, wherein you write of the troubles you have had with some, who it is like (having the times and friends on their sides) will work you what mischiefs they can; and that they may do much, many here do fear: And partly by reason of this king's proclamation, dated the 13th of May last, in which he saith, that his full resolution is, to the end that there may be one uniform course of government, in, and through all his whole monarchy; that the government of Virginia shall immediately depend on himself, and not be committed to any company or corporation, etc. so that some conceive he will have both the same civil and ecclesiastical government that is in England, which occasioneth their fear. I desire you to write your thoughts of these things, for the satisfying of others; for my own part and some others, we durst rely upon you for that, who we persuade ourselves, would not be thus earnest, for our pastor and church to come to you; if you feared the danger of being suppressed. Thus desiring you to pardon my boldness, and remember us in your prayers; I for this time and ever, commit you and all your affairs to the Almighty, and rest

And brother in the Lord, ROGER WHITE.

Leyden, Dec. 1, Anno 1625.

P. S. The church would entreat you to continue your writing to them, which is very comfortable.

To our most dear, and entirely beloved brethren, Mr. William Bradford and Mr. William Brewster, grace mercy and true peace be multiplied, from God our Father, through our Lord Iesus Christ. Amen.

Most dear christian friends and brethren, as it is no small grief unto you, so is it no less unto us, that we are constrained to live thus disunited each from other, especially considering our affections each unto other, for the mutual edifying and comfort of both, in these evil days wherein we live: if it pleased the Lord to bring us again together, than which as no outward thing could be more comfortable unto us, or is more desired of us, if the Lord see it good; so see we no hope of means of accomplishing the same, except it come from you, and therefore, must with patience rest in the work and will of God, performing our duties to him and you assunder; whom we are not any way able to help, but by our continual prayers to him for you, and sympathy of affections with you, for the troubles which befal you; till it please the Lord to reunite us again. But our dearly beloved brethren, concerning your kind and respective letter, howsoever written by one of you, yet as we continue with the consent (at least in affection) of you both, although we cannot answer your desire and expectation, by reason it hath pleased the Lord to take to himself out of this miserable world our dearly beloved pastor, yet for ourselves we are minded as formerly, to come unto you, when and as the Lord affordeth means, though we see little hope thereof at present, as being unable of ourselves, and that our friends will help us we see little hope. And now, brethren, what shall we say further unto you; our desires and prayers to God, is (if such were his good will and pleasure) we might be reunited for the edifying and mutual comfort of both, which, when he sees fit, he will accomplish. In the mean time, we commit you unto him and to the word of his grace; whom we beseech to guide and direct both you and us, in all his ways, according to that, his word, and to bless all our lawful endeavours, for the glory of his name and good of his people. Salute, we pray you, all the church and brethren with you to whom we would have sent this letter. If we knew it could not be prejudicial unto you, as we hope it cannot; yet fearing the worst, we thought fit either to direct it to you, our two beloved brethen, leaving it to your goodly wisdom and discretion, to manifest our mind to the rest of our loving friends and brethren, as you see most convenient. And thus intreating you to remember us in your prayers, as we also do you; we for this time commend you and all your affairs to the direction and protection of the Almighty, and rest,

Your assured loving friends

And brethren in the Lord,
FRANCIS JESSOPP,
THOMAS NASH,
THOMAS BLOSSOM,

Leyden, Nov. 30, A.D. 1625.

Before I pass to other things, I will here insert a letter of Mr. Robinson's, which, though it is out of place, yet coming now to hand, I thought better to put it here, than to omit it. It was written to the church as followeth:

To the church of God, at Plymouth, in New England.

Much beloved brethren, neither the distance of place, nor distinction of body, can at all either dissolve or weaken that bond of true christian affection in which the Lord by his spirit hath tied us together. My continual prayers are to the Lord for you; my most earnest desire is unto you; from whom I will not longer keep (if God will) than means can be procured to bring with me the wives and children of divers of you and the rest of your brethren, whom I could not leave behind me without great, both injury to you and them, and offence to God and all men. The death of so many our dear friends and brethren; oh! how grievous hath it been to you to bear, and to us to take knowledge of, which, if it could be mended with lamenting, could not sufficiently be bewailed; but we must go unto them and they shall not return unto us: And how many even of us, God hath taken away here, and in England, since your departure, you may elsewhere take knowledge. But the same God has tempered judgment with mercy, as otherwise, so in sparing the rest, especially those by whose godly and wise government, you may be, and (I know) are so much helped. In a battle it is not looked for but that divers should die; it is thought well for a side, if it get the victory, though with the loss of divers, if not too many or too great. God, I hope, hath given you the victory, after many difficulties, for yourselves and others; though I doubt not, but many do and will remain for you and us all to strive with. Brethren, I hope I need not exhort you to obedience unto those whom God hath set over you, in church and commonwealth, and to the Lord in them. It is a christian's honour, to give honour according to men's places; and his liberty, to serve God in faith, and his brethren in love orderly and with a willing and free heart. God forbid, I should need to exhort you to peace, which is the bond of perfection, and by which all good is tied together, and without which it is scattered. Have peace with God first, by faith in his promises, good conscience kept in all things, and oft renewed by repentance; and so, one with another, for his sake, who is, though three, one; and for Christ's sake who is one, and as you are called by one spirit to one hope. And the God of peace and grace and all goodness be with you, in all the fruits thereof, plenteously upon your heads, now and for ever. All your brethren here, remember you with great love, a general token whereof they have sent you.

COL JOHN GORHAM'S "WAST BOOK" AND HIS "DAYLY JOURNAL."

FACSIMILES AND TRANSCRIPTS.

WITH NOTES BY GEORGE ERNEST BOWMAN.

Extracts from Col. John Gorham's "Wast Book" were published in the "New York Genealogical and Biographical Record" in 1897; and in 1898 Mr. Frank William Sprague of Brookline, Mass., printed facsimiles of the manuscript in the same magazine and in the "New England Historical and Genealogical Register." The blocks from which these facsimiles were printed Mr. Sprague has presented to the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants, as already acknowledged in this magazine, and he has increased the obligation of the Society to himself by securing from the owner of the "Wast Book," Mr. John M. Gorham of Cleveland, Ohio, the loan of this valuable manuscript to the Editor for a critical examination and the copying of such parts as seemed desirable. Mr. Gorham's courtesy in twice loaning the "Wast Book" is gratefully acknowledged.

The "Wast Book" is a blank book of twenty pages, with a cover of thick paper. It is thirteen and one-eighth inches tall and eight and one-half inches in width, and there are entries on every page, including the four cover pages. The owner has had bound with it Col. John Gorham's "Dayly Journal," begun eight years earlier than the "Wast Book."

The "Dayly Journal" is twelve and one-fourth inches tall and seven and five-eighths inches in width. It originally had at least sixty-four pages, as is shown by the stubs of leaves which have been cut out. There are now but forty-eight pages, four of which are entirely blank. The lower parts of three of the leaves have been torn off, and the entries on the last seven pages were written with the book reversed.

were written, the transcripts showing what is on each page of the original.

On the cover of the "Wast Book" is the following inscription:

Weish Book Brilonging to In Gorham Inegan in Jours bourg August 28

"Wast Book Belonging to Jnº Gorham Began in Louisbourg August 28th 1745"

At the top of the first page of the "Dayly Journal" is the following entry:

"(Super Altum Mare) June 29 1737 Jnº Gorhams . mem-ordm or Dayly Journal -

Some things put Down for a memorandum and account of Some Venters on Bord Sloop Neptune Solo Davis Comdr"

From other entries it appears that John Gorham was trading in various ports of Newfoundland during July and August, 1737; and on page 46 is found this entry:

"St Johns 13 of Augst 1737 I took possession of Briggt Greenland Briggt as mastr heald & tallowd her at N. England pay £8 pr month Bound to London & to Boston"

In command of a brigantine bound on a voyage to London, Gorham began to make note of matters to be attended to while there, and on page 48 is found the following entry, to which Mr. Sprague called my attention when he brought the manuscript to me:

"augst 29 1737 In St Johns 1737 memorandums of things to be bought In London Coppy of Cos Daniel Gorhams Invintary sent home"

"to Look out for ye Gorhams Coat of Armes. Came from Huntingtunshear"

With this entry in mind I examined the remaining pages with the greatest care and was rewarded by finding on the forty-fourth page, under the heading "London . Octobr 1737 Som Account of cash Lade out or Spent," the following entries:

"Herralds office

7 . . 6"

"paid a man for Looking out the Gorhams in the Citty

r — 6"

The record of the fee of seven shillings and six pence paid at the Heralds College seems to indicate that the search for a coat of arms was successful. One could wish that Gorham had been more explicit in his entry and named the family with which he was connected. This omission is especially unfortunate since his notes in the "Wast Book" and the "Dayly Journal," that the family came from Huntingdonshire and that Capt. John's father was also named John, contradict the claim of modern writers that Capt. John Gorham was the John (son of Ralph) who was baptized at Benefield, Northamptonshire, on 28 January, 1620/1.

Which claim shall we accept? The one made by the great-grandson of Capt. John Gorham on the authority of Capt. John's grandson, Capt. George Gorham, or the one made by modern writers and based chiefly on similarity of names?

I will first consider the claim that Capt. John was the son of Ralph. This seems to be based solely on the fact that there was a Ralph Gorham in Plymouth between 2 October, 1637, and 5 April, 1642*, and that a Ralph Gorham had a son baptized at Benefield in 1621 as already stated. The statement has been made that the Plymouth Colony Records prove that Ralph of Plymouth was the father of Capt. John, but this is an error, as these records contain not the slightest evidence of any relationship between the two.

Capt. John Gorham's deposition, which was printed in an earlier issue of this magazine,† states his age as "53 yeares or therabouts" early in 1675. This, if exact, would make him more than a year younger than the John baptized at Benefield 28 January, 1620/1, but it is not conclusive evidence either for or against his identity with the John of Benefield.

Since no proof that Capt. John's father was Ralph has yet been produced by those who claim this connection, it is reasonable to suppose that Capt. George Gorham's statement was correct, and my examination of the records has resulted in the discovery of corroborative evidence which seems to have escaped the notice of earlier searchers. In August, 1643, a record was made of all the males between the ages of sixteen and sixty who were able to bear arms. In this list we find a John Gorham enrolled at Plymouth and one enrolled at Marshfield. In the absence of any evidence that this was an error, we must accept the record as it stands. Capt. John's first child was born at Plymouth, 2 April, 1644, and the second one at Marshfield, 5 May, 1646. It is probable therefore that he was enrolled at Plymouth and his father at Marshfield, in August, 1643.

I would call attention here to still another John Gorham, hitherto unnoticed. The Salem Quarterly Court Records and Files show that there was a John Gorham at the Iron Works at Lynn in December, 1647, September, 1650, and December, 1650, and that in June, 1651, a John Gorham whose residence is not stated was fined for drunkenness.* Who was this John?

The entry in the "Wast Book" was made but a short time after the death of Col. Shubael<sup>3</sup> Gorham, Capt. John's grandson, and the statements made were "taken from Capt George3 Gorham" (another grandson), whose father, Shubael<sup>2</sup> (Capt. John<sup>1</sup>), was living two years after the "Wast Book" was begun. Capt. George<sup>3</sup> was born in 1697 and must have been acquainted with at least three of his uncles (Capt. John's sons), James<sup>2</sup> who died in 1707, John<sup>2</sup> who died in 1716, and Joseph<sup>2</sup> who died in 1726. Capt. George,3 therefore, had every opportunity to learn the name of his great-grandfather and the part of England from which the family came. We must also take into consideration the fact that in 1737, eight years before the "Wast Book" was begun, Col. John4 made a memorandum to the effect that the family came from Huntingdonshire, and looked the matter up when he reached London. If he had been descended from Ralph of Benefield he would have been certain to learn of it at this time, and would not have been likely to accept the statement of Capt. George, that Capt. John's father was named John.

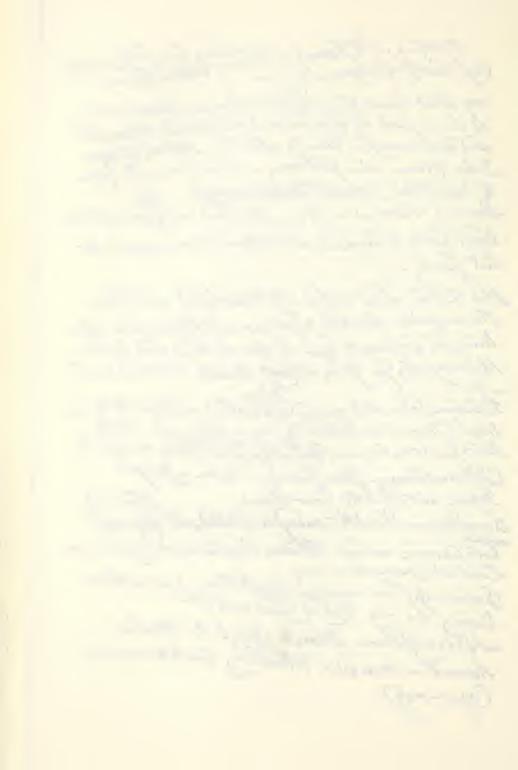

The facsimiles and transcripts of the entries in the "Wast Book" will be found on the following pages.

The transcripts were made from the original document, not from the facsimiles.

THE WILL OF JOSIAH2 COOKE.*

Transcribed from the Original Records,

By George Ernest Bowman.

Josiah<sup>2</sup> Cooke of Eastham, son of Josiah Cooke of Plymouth and Eastham, was not descended from Francis Cooke of the Mayflower†; but he married Deborah<sup>3</sup> Hopkins (Gyles<sup>2</sup>, Stephen<sup>1</sup>) and through her all of his descendants are eligible to membership in the Society of Mayflower Descendants, since both her father and grandfather were Mayflower passengers.

Josiah Cooke died at Eastham 31 January, 1732, and his will is recorded in the Barnstable County Probate Records, Volume V, pages 124 and 125.

REPORTS FROM STATE SOCIETIES.

MASSACHUSETTS SOCIETY.

THE thirty-fifth meeting of the Society was held at the Hotel Vendome. Boston, on Saturday afternoon, March 28, 1903. The meeting was given up entirely to the consideration of business matters, including proposed changes in the By-Laws, which were amended so that in future the Annual Meeting will be held on the twenty-eighth day of March, the anniversary of the organization of the Society. The Annual Dinner will be given, as heretofore, on the twenty-first of November.

The thirty-sixth meeting of the Society was held at Potter Hall, New Century Building, Boston, on Tuesday evening, April 28, 1903. Mr. Morton Dexter, the Governor of the Society, delivered an address on the Pilgrims in Leyden; and Miss Harriet Arline Shaw gave several selections on the harp and there were vocal selections by Miss Margaret S. Conrad.

PILGRIM NOTES AND OUERIES.

NOTES.

VITAL RECORDS OF TOWNS IN PLYMOUTH COUNTY, MASS. The Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants is preparing to publish the vital records (births, intentions of marriage, marriages and deaths) of the towns of Plymouth County, in addition to those of Barnstable County. The records of each town will be issued in a separate volume, which will contain a literal copy of every entry found on the records of the town down to the year 1850.

A more detailed announcement, giving also the advance subscription prices of a number of the books, will be ready soon.

OLD COLONY TOWN RECORD FUND. In order to assist in the work of printing the records of the towns in Plymouth County the "Old Colony Town Record Fund" has been started, and all gifts towards the expense of this work and advance subscriptions for copies of the books, with all receipts from sales of books issued at the expense of the fund, will be added to it.

Contributions received: Arthur I. Nash, $25.00; Herbert Nash, $25.00;

Total, $50.00.

Five hundred sets of Bowman's Ancestral Charts and ten copies of the Freeman Genealogy have been donated by the Editor, to be sold for the benefit of the Old Colony Town Record Fund in accordance with the very liberal offer in our advertising pages.

Brewster, Mass., VITAL RECORDS. The Regular Edition of the Brewster, Mass., Vital Records, which will contain literal copies of all entries of births, intentions of marriage, marriages and deaths found on the records of the town down to the year 1850, will be ready about September first and until that date advance subscriptions, if accompanied by a remittance, will be accepted at $1.00 per copy. On and after September 1, 1903, the price of this book will be $2.00 per copy.

TRURO, MASS., VITAL RECORDS. The work of transcribing the Truro records has been completed and about one-fourth of the manuscript has been put into type. The work is proceeding as rapidly as the funds will allow.

CHATHAM AND DENNIS VITAL RECORDS. We are now prepared to receive subscriptions for the Chatham and the Dennis records, and the copying of the Dennis records has begun. The prices of these books will be as follows: Chatham, $4.00 ($3.00 if paid in advance of publication);

Dennis $4.00 ($3.00 if paid in advance of publication).

BENJAMINS BREWSTER'S MARRIAGE RECORD.

THE MAYFLOWER DESCENDANT

Vol. V.

OCTOBER, 1903.

No. 4.

BENJAMIN' BREWSTER'S WIFE WAS ANN DARTE, NOT ANN DARBE.

By George Ernest Bowman.

In a biographical sketch of Dr. Asa Fitch, published in the "New York Genealogical and Biographical Record" for July, 1903,* the statement is made that Benjamin³ Brewster (Jonathan², Elder William¹) married "Ann Darbe," and the reasons for making this claim are stated in a footnote, in the following words:

"The wife of Benjamin Brewster is often given as Ann Darte, and the 'Brewster Book,' once in the Fitch family and now deposited in Boston, is given as authority. Dr. Asa Fitch examined this book and copied from it some forty years ago before it had been handled so much as it has been of late years, and it was plain to him that the name there recorded was. Darbe."

It is exceedingly unfortunate that the writer of these words, without any attempt to verify Dr. Fitch's reading of the record, should have put into print one more error to perplex and mislead future students of Brewster and Fitch genealogy.

The record in question was made in the "Brewster Book" by Benjamin<sup>3</sup> Brewster himself, and, as it lies before the present writer, is as legible as the day it was made, more than two hundred years ago. The half-tone reproduction which faces this page shows very plainly that the name is "Darte" not "Darbe." The two pages of the "Brewster Book" shown in the illustration contain eight entries in the handwriting of Benjamin<sup>3</sup>

THE PROPERTY AND THE PARTY OF T

P

Brewster. These were all printed in the "Mayflower Descendant" in 1899, but are reprinted here for the benefit of those who are not familiar with the style of handwriting used.

"Lucretia the Daftre of peter Bradle Borne at New London August the 16.1661

Lock in another plase"

An examination of these eight entries will show that the letter "b" appears nine times and the letter "t" forty-four times, and that in no case was the letter "b" written so carelessly that it could be mistaken for a "t," even if it stood alone and its identity could not be proved by means of the remaining letters in the word. On the other hand it will be seen that there are several cases in which the letter "t" is carelessly made and, if standing alone, might easily be mistaken for a "b."

In the entry under consideration we find the letter "t" used three times besides its use in the word "Darte," and in the word "Darte" it does not bear the slightest resemblance to the "b" in "Febeare" or to any other "b" written by Benjamin<sup>3</sup>

Brewster.

In the Norwich, Conn., records this name is given as Dart. It will be evident, therefore, to all who examine the original entry or the reproduction herewith, that Benjamin<sup>3</sup> Brewster married "Ann Darte" and that the reading "Darbe" was an error.

Apparently "1659: 1660" was written at first. Later both were crossed out and "1660" added in different ink. The date of birth of the first child and the fact that the marriage is entered on the Norwich, Conn., records [Book I, p. 23] as occurring in February, 1659 (old style, of course), prove that this marriage took place in February 1659/60.

GOVERNOR BRADFORD'S LETTER BOOK.

This next year being Anno. 1626, we sent Mr. Allerton into England, partly to make some supply for us, and to see if he could make any reasonable composition with the adventurers and because we well knew that nothing can be done without money, we gave him an order to procure some, binding ourselves to make payment thereof, as followeth:

Know all men by these presents, that whereas we William Bradford, Governour of Plymouth in New England, and William Brewster, Capt. Miles Standish, Isaac Allerton, Samuel Fuller, Edward Winslow, John Jeney, John Howland, and John Allden; being all inhabitants of Plymouth, aforesaid, are for ourselves, and divers others, our associates, &c. And whereas the said Isaac Allerton (by God's providence) for the necessary occasions of the colony abovesaid, is bound for England; and whereas divers of us above named, have acquainted divers of our worthy and approved friends (by our letters *) with our raw and weak estate, and want of ability of ourselves to manage so great an action, as the upholding of the plantation aforesaid. If therefore God shall move the heart or hearts of any of our friends, in compassion of our wants and present straits, to lend us above named, the sum of one hundred pounds sterling, for the space of two years, upon any such terms as shall be agreed upon, between him or them and the said Isaac Allerton, our partner and agent, and deliver the same into his hands for our use; that we, the said William Bradford, William Brewster, &c. together with the said Isaac Allerton, do bind ourselves, our heirs, &c. jointly and severally, for the faithful performance of such obligations, conditions, or covenants, as shall be agreed on, &c. In witness whereof, we have put to our hands and seals, this 2d of July, Anno 1626, &c.

Upon this order, he got two hundred pounds, but it was at thirty in the hundred interest, by which appears in what straits we were; and yet this was upon better terms than the goods which were sent us the year before, being at forty-five per cent. so that it was God's marvellous providence, that we were ever able to wade through things, as will better appear if God give me life and opportunity to handle them more particularly, in another treatise more at large, as I desire and purpose (if God permit) with many other things, in a better order.

Besides the obtaining of this money, he with much ado made a composition and agreement with the body of the adventurers, Mr. Allden (something now softened by my letter before mentioned) who was one of our powerfulest opposers, did not only yield thereunto, but was a furtherer of the same. I will shew the heads of it, as it was drawn in a deed as followeth:

To all christian people, to whom this present writing indented shall come greeting,

Whereas, at a meeting the 26th of October last past, divers and sundry persons, whose names to the one part of these presents are subscribed in a schedule hereunto annexed, adventurers to New-Plymouth, in New England in America, were contented and agreed (in consideration of the sum of one thousand and eight hundred pounds sterling, to be paid unto the said adventurers in manner and form following) to sell and make sale of all and every the stocks, shares, lands, merchandize and chattles whatsoever, to the said adventurers and other their fellow adventurers to New Plymouth aforesaid accruing or belonging, to the generality of the said adventurers aforesaid, as well by reasons of any sum or sums of money, or merchandize at any time heretofore adventured by them, or otherwise howsoever; for the better expression and setting forth of which said agreement, the parties to these presents subscribing, do for themselves severally, and as much as in them is, grant, bargain, alien, sell and transfer, all and every the said shares, goods, lands, merchandize and chattles to them belonging as aforesaid, unto Isaac Allerton, one of the planters resident at New Plymouth aforesaid, assigned and sent over as agent for the rest of the planters residing there, and unto such other planters at New Plymouth aforesaid, as the said Isaac Allerton, his heirs or assignees, at his, or their arrival shall by writing or otherwise think fit to join, or partake in the premises, their and every of their heirs and assigns in as large and ample and beneficial manner and form, to all intents and purposes, as the said several subscribing adventurers here could or may do, or perform; all which stocks, shares, lands, &c. to the said adventurers, in severalty alloted, apportioned or belonging; the said adventurers do warrant, and defend unto the said Isaac Allerton his heirs and assigns, against them, their heirs and assigns, by these presents: And therefore, the said Isaac Allerton for him, his heirs and assigns, doth covenant, promise, and grant to and with the said adventurers, whose names are hereunto subscribed, their heirs, &c. well and truly to pay, or cause to be paid unto the said adventurers or five of them, which were at the meeting aforesaid, nominated and deputed, viz. John Pocock, John Beauchamp, Robert Kean, Edward Bass, and James Shirley, their heirs, &c. to, and for the use of the generality of them, the sum of eighteen hundred pounds, of lawful money of England, at the place appointed for the receipts of money, on the west side of the Royal Exchange in London, by two hundred pounds yearly and every year, on the feast day of St. Michael, which shall be in the year 1628: And the said Isaac Allerton, for him, his heirs, &c. doth covenant and grant to, and with the said adventurers, their heirs, &c. to do his, and their good endeavours, to procure, obtain, and get of, and from all the planters, at New Plymouth aforesaid, or so many of them as he or they by persuasion and entreaty can or may, security by several obligations, or writing obligatory, to make payment of the said sum of eighteen hundred pounds, in form aforesaid, according to the true meaning of these presents. In testimony whereof, to this part of these presents, remaining with the said Isaac Allerton, the said subscribing adventurers have set to their names,

&c. And to the other part of these presents remaining with the said adventurers, the said Isaac Allerton hath subscribed his name, the 15th of November, Anno 1626, and in the second year of the reign of our sovereign Lord, King Charles, by the grace of God, King of England, &c: Subscribed thus as followeth:

John White,
John Pocock,
Robert Kcan,

Thomas Millsop,
In all forty-two.

This year, Anno 1627, Mr. Allerton was sent again as for other things, so especially to ratify and confirm this bargain; and for that end we gave him full authority under our hands, and seal, and became bound in several bonds for the payment of the money yearly: So the thing was fully concluded, and the bargain fairly engrossed in parchment, under their hands and seals, as legally and formally done, as by the learnedest lawyers could be devised, as by the deed itself will better appear; which I will not here insert, being long, but the substance may be seen in the former, to which it hath reference; only I will mention this particular clause, how we were bound thereby to forfeit thirty shillings a week, for every week that we failed of due payment, at any the several days. Thus all now is become our own, as we say in the proverb, when our debts are paid. And doubtless this was a great mercy of God unto us, and a great means of our peace and better subsistence, and wholly dashed all the plots and devises of our enemies, both there and here, who daily expected our ruin, dispersion and utter subversion by the same; but their hopes were thus far prevented, though with great care and labour, we were left to struggle with the payment of the money.

THE WILL OF JOHN' ROGERS.

Transcribed from the Original Records,

BY GEORGE ERNEST BOWMAN.

JOHN ROGERS of Duxbury, the son of Thomas Rogers of the Mayflower, died between 26 August, 1691, the day his will was made, and 20 September, 1692, the day it was proved. All original documents connected with the settlement of the estate have disappeared from the files and there is no record of an inventory. The copy of the will has been made from the Plymouth County Probate Records, Volume I, page 145.

[John<sup>2</sup> Rogers' Will.]

On the 26 August in the year of our Lord 1691:

In the Name of God Amen. I John Rogers sent of Duxborough in the County of New Plimouth Being Sick and weak of Body but of Sound and perfect mind and memory Praise be therefore Given to Almighty God. Doe make and ordain this my present last will and Testament in maner and forme following that is to say first and Principally I comend my soul into the hands of Almighty God Hoping through the merits Death and Passion of my Saviour Jesus Christ to have full and free pardon and forgiveness of all my sins and to Inherit Everlasting Life. #### THE SETTLEMENT OF EDWARD' DOTY'S ESTATE.

By George Ernest Bowman.

Edward<sup>2</sup> Doty (Edward<sup>1</sup>) died intestate on 8 February, 1689/90, and his wife Sarah (Faunce) Doty was appointed administratrix on 18 March 1689/90. On the third of December, 1696, the widow having married again and died in the meantime, the surviving heirs made a final settlement of the estate. The inventory, the appointment of the administratrix and the agreement of the heirs are recorded in the Plymouth County Probate Records, Volume I, pages 53 and 251. The only original document connected with this estate remaining in the files is the bond of the administratrix, which was not recorded.

PLYMOUTH FIRST CHURCH RECORDS.

In 1676: the Lords supper was six times, five members were admitted, 24 children were baptized.

The war continuing & also sicknesse, the chh set apart April, 19: for a fasting & prayer, & also May, 30: for the same grounds.

The Generall Court in June, being sensible of the heavy hand of God upon the country in the continuance of war with the heathen appointed a day of Humiliation to be kept, 22 day of it & added thereto a solemne motion to all our ches to renew a covenant engagement to God for Reformation of all provoking evills. The chh attended that day of Prayer & then the Elders appointed a chh-meeting to be on June, 29: The church then all met; our chh meetings were ever begun & ended with prayer, (the Pastor ordinarily beginning & the Elder concluding therewith) After Prayer for Gods direction & blessing in soc solemne a matter, A church-covenant was read, & the chh voted that it should be left on record as that which they did owne to be the substance of that Covenant which their Fathers entered into at the first gathering of the church, which was in these words following,

[p. 5] In the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ & in obedience to his holy will & divine ordinances.

Wee being by the most wise & good providence of God brought together in this place & desirous to unite our selves into one congregation or church under the Lord Jesus Christ our Head, that it may be in such sort as becometh all those whom He hath redeemed & sanctifyed to himselfe, wee doe hereby solemnly & religiously (as in his most holy prescence) avouch the Lord Jehovah the only true God to be our God & the God of ours & doe promise & binde ourselves to walke in all our wayes according to the Rule of the Gospel & in all sincere conformity to His holy ordinances & in mutuall love to & watchfullnesse over one another, depending wholy & only upon the Lord our God to enable us by his grace hereunto.

Then serious Enquiry was made, in what particulars there might be found amongst us a violation of this holy covenant & any unanswerable walking thereunto?

Then followed a Proposall, whether wee were all willing to renew our Covenant for Reformation?

The Aged, godly Elder spake his minde particularly to these things, & then the Pastor (whom the Elder had before desired to draw up an Instrument sutable to the purpose) read a paper in which were mentioned, wherein our violations of Covenant had bin & our Engagement for Reformation was contained, which the whole chh did well approve of, & concluded as soone as wee could conveniently to appoint a day of Humiliation wherein to attend Renewall of Covenant; Further, appointing July, 10: for all the children of the chh to come together before the Elders on that account, which they very readily & universally did at the time appointed; the Elders then asked them, I: whether they did owne their interest in the covenant of their fathers? to which, they all freely answered in the Affirmative . 2: whether they would endeavour to stirre up themselves in the use of all due meanes for obtaining the good & blessings of that Covenant? then the Pastor read a Paper, containing many evills the guilt of which might be found amongst them & also their desires & promise of Reformation, to be visibly manifested, they all manifested a compliance therewith, & the compleating of the matter was reserved till the day of Humiliation. The chh set apart July, 18: for this service; the morning was spent in prayer & preaching by the Pastor, whose Text was in Psal: 56: 12:13: in the Afternoone the Elder began with Prayer & was large in it, then wee proceeded to a renewall of Covenant, first the Paper was read that concerned the members in full communion, in these words following.

[p. 6] Whereas the Holy & Righteous God hath many wayes in yeares lately past changed the course of his favourable dispensations towards us & manifested sad signes of his displeasure against us, wee desire to be deeply humbled in his sight under his mighty hand & to reflect upon our owne hearts

& waves with serious Consideration, whereby wee see abundant cause to Judge our selves as being guilty of many evills for which the Lord may Justly be provoked to avenge the quarrell of his Covenant upon us. In particular, Wee doe acknowledge wee have greatly lost our first love to & pretious esteem of the Gospel & ordinances of the Lord Jesus, which hath too evidently appeared, partly in our remisnesse in coming to ordinances, partly in our listlesse & sluggish attendance upon them. as also by our barrenesse & unfruitfullnesse under meanes of grace, neither have wee maintained & kept up the life & power of Godlynesse as wee ought to have done, wee have also polluted the Holy Sabbaths of the Lord our God, as other waves, soe very much by impertinent communication thereupon, year the loosnesse of our conversations soe unbecoming the Gospel of Christ is a Testimony against us that wee have backslidden from the Lord, wee have sadly mispent our pretious time & omitted our Duty to God & to our relations by frequenting such places & companyes not becoming christians to delight in, wee have too much allowed our selves in unbrotherly chidings & contendings one with another & have let the sun goe downe too often upon our wrath, wee have bin too unfaithfull in our words & promises & ingagements one unto another, having not considered one another to provoke to love & good workes, nor watched over the soules one of another, in faithfull reproofes for sin as ought to have bin & in the use of all other meanes for our mutuall edification in faith & holinesse: Wee have also too much set our hearts upon the world & creature-comforts & vanities & have too much conformed to the world; we have also bin too remisse in family-instruction & government, not minding the good of the soules of those committed to our charge as wee ought to have done; And although God hath greatly afflicted us for our many swervings from him, yet wee have not bin soe affected with his heavy hand as to reforme those evills for which he hath bin contending with us.

For these & other evills that might be mentioned, wee desire to lye in the dust before God & to abhorre our selves & unfeignedly to repent in his sight & humbly to acknowledge that God is Just & righteous in all the evills wee have bin visited with, yea that He hath punished us far lesse then our iniquities doe deserve; And wee doe in the prescence of God & of his Holy Angels professe our sincere desires that these & all other evills in our hearts & lives may be reformed, And doe therefore renew an holy covenant with the Lord our God & one with another this day, hereby solemnly engaging our selves in the strength of divine grace (without which [p. 7] wee can doe nothing) to put forth our utmost endeavours for a thorough Reformation of evill both in our selves & others in our severall capacitie[s] according to the relations that are upon us towards God & one unto another, & also to walke together before God in a professed subjection to all his holy ordinances according to the Rule of the Gospel & in Brotherly love & holy watchfullnesse to the mutuall succour & building up of one another in the faith & fellowship of the Lord Jesus.

This being read, the church was called upon to manifest their consent thereunto by standing up, which all both Elders & Bretheren & sisters did.

JOSEPH' BRADFORD'S WILL AND THE REASONS FOR NOT APPROVING IT.

Transcribed from the Original Documents,

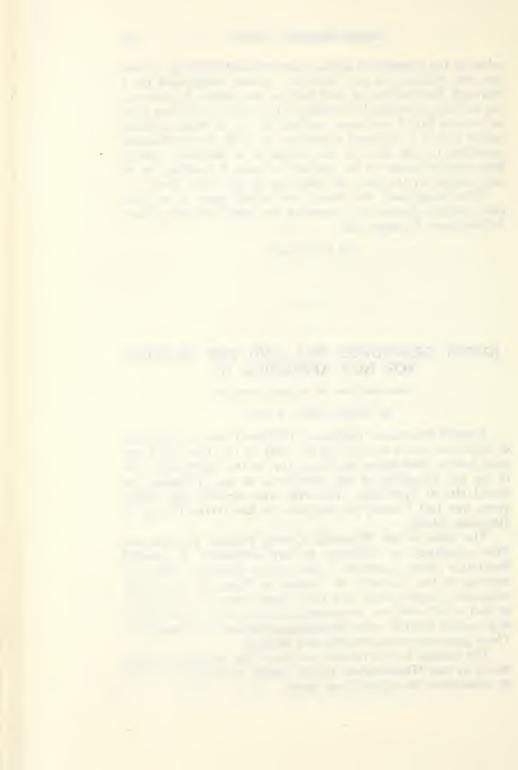

BY GEORGE ERNEST BOWMAN.

JOSEPH<sup>2</sup> BRADFORD (Governor William<sup>1</sup>) lived in that part of Plymouth which was set off in 1726 as the town of Kingston, and he died there 10 July, 1715, in the eighty-fifth year of his age according to the inscription on his gravestone on Burial Hill at Plymouth. His wife, who survived him fifteen years, was Jael Hobart, the daughter of Rev. Peter Hobart of Hingham, Mass.

The index of the Plymouth County Probate Records and Files contained no reference to any settlement of Joseph<sup>2</sup> Bradford's estate, therefore I was much surprised, while examining in the Registry of Probate at Plymouth some miscellaneous papers which had never been recorded or indexed, to find a will with his autograph signature, also an inventory of his estate and the other documents which are here presented. These papers are now docketed and indexed.

The reasons for the refusal to approve the will are so clearly stated in the Memorandum of the Judge of Probate it would be superfluous to repeat them here.

[Joseph<sup>2</sup> Bradford's Will.]

The eight day of October in the year of Our Lord one thousand seven hundred and twelve I Joseph Bradford of the town & County of Plimoth in Her Majesties Province of ye Massachusetts bay in New England planter, being in some Measure of bodily health: of a Sound mind & Memory do make and ordain this my last will & testament in manner and forme following. In the first and Chief place I Resign & bequeth my Soul into the hands of God who gave it my body I commit to the earth to be decently buried. And as to my temporal Estate I give, bequeath and dispose thereof as followeth Imprimis I give and bequeath to my dear and loveing wife Jael Bradford & to my Son Elisha Bradford all my household goods & debts whatsoever Item I give and bequeath unto Jael Bradford my wife her heirs and assignes forever one halfe part of all my housing and lands forever with all & every of their appurtenances. Item I give and bequeath to my son Elisha Bradford the other halfe part of all my lands and houses to him the Said Elisha Bradford his heires and assignes forever. Also I do Constitute and appoint my beloved wife Jael Bradford to be the Executrixe and my son Elisha Bradford to be the Executor of this my last will & testament finally I do hereby Revoke and disanul all former wills by me made and in testimony that this is my last will and testament I have hereunto set my hand & affixed my seale the day & yeare above written

[TESTIMONY OF EPHRAIM LITTLE.]

I Ephraim Little Of plymouth being subpensed Do Testify and Declare, that some years Ago Mrs Jael Bradford then the wife of Mr Joseph Bradford Came to my house & Gave mee a paper inclosed but not Sealed & Desired mee to Seal it & take it into my Custody, Telling me it was her husbands Will, I accordingly tooke it & Laid it up . but after sometime Upon Something I had heard I Opened so Will and Readd it and Indeed was very Much surprized to see that Mr Bradford having but one son should make his Will & not give any of his lands to him & thereupon resolved to Lett Mr Bradford know I had Opened the Will & Give him my thoughts about it . accordingly putt ye will into my pockett & went to Mr Bradfords . and mett wth him Walking in his pasture Alone. I presently Gave him An Acct of my business & Desired him to reconsider his Will & whether he had Just Cause to disinheritt his son he told mee he had given all his lands to his son only reserving to his Wife, ye Improvt Of one half during her life Upon that I told him he was undr a great Mistake & took out ye will to read to him to convince him of his Mistake but he replyed No lets go into ye house & it shall be read before her. I suppose Meaning his Wife. Accordingly Wee went in & as soon as Mr Bradford came in (what sayth he! Mr Little sayth I have given all ye lands to you & seemd pretty Much disturbed his Wife endeavoured to pacify him & desired mee to sit down I did so he Desired mee to read ye Will upon weh I tooke it out and was ging to read it weh Mrs Bradford Objected Against alledging it was not Convenient it should be read but Mr Bradford (wth some heat) sd it shou'd be read, upon wth I desired

Mrs Bradford to give her reasons why shee thought not convenient and it may be wn wee had heard them Mr Bradford would not desire the reading of it, shee seem<sup>d</sup> not very forward in giving any Reason; Mr Bradford still Insisted upon ye reading it . & at last Mrs Bradford offered this reason that viz. that it would be more Convenient to lett it alone to another time that ye man that wrote it might read it to her husband To w<sup>ch</sup> I thus Replyed, said I M<sup>rs</sup> I do not know who y<sup>e</sup> man was that wrote this will but whoever it was I am afraid he has read it once to yr husband and read it wrong & therefore I'll now read it to him & read it right & Imediatly began to read, shee seemd Much Disturbd at it & so did Mr Bradford too wn I came to that paragraph yt related To ye disposall of ye land & Interrupted mee & said it was none of his Will & it should be burnt & that he never sett his hand to it . upon that I lookd on his name & held ye paper to him telling him I believed it was his own hand, he replyed that if so they gave him another to read & made him putt his hand to this for this was not ye paper he read, & Was very much disturbed abt ye matter, & utterly disclaimed it to be his Will After some time I having ye will still in my hands Mrs Bradford desired mee to give it to her but I refused it at wch shee seemd Angry: I told her if Mr Bradford desired it I would give it to him; shee faulted mee much for Opening it I told her I would not Justify my Opening it but If I had done amiss I must beg Mr Bradfords pardon & not hers . he replyed he was glad I Opened it & there was a good providence in it . after wee had sat a while Mr Bradford desired ye Will of mee I readily gave it to him . presently his Wife desired him to give it to her to Lay up . but he refused it; but before I came away shee obtained it of him telling him if there was any thing Amiss in it it should be rectifyed.

[Memorandum of Judge of Probate.]

Septemb<sup>r</sup> Court 1715. These preents sheweth,

The Reasons Wherfore the Judge of Probats for the County of Plimouth Could not Approve the Instrument presented to him by M<sup>5</sup> Jael Bradford as her late Husbands Will.

Before the said Instrument was Exhibited to the said Judge Major John Bradford desired him That when his uncle Mr Joseph Bradfords Will was Exhibitted he might be preent & hear it Read before it was Proved

Accordingly when M<sup>rs</sup> Jael Bradford Relict widow of the said M<sup>r</sup> Joseph Bradford Came before the said Judge to Exhibit her said Husbands Will. Major Bradford was sent for & then the said Instrument or writing was Read. And then the said Maj<sup>r</sup> Bradford said That Instrument or writing was not his uncles Will. but his Aunts Will. & Entred a Cavit with the Judge against the Probate therof untill he should be further heard & bring in his Witnesses against the Probate therof

Elisha Stetson & Wrestling Brewster two of the Witneses named in the said Will being present were asked by the Judge whether that writing was Read to Mr Joseph Bradford before he signed it they Answered it was not Réad to him in their hearing

Then the Judge told Mrs Jael Bradford it was Nessesary her Brother Mr Hobart the other Witness should Come & Testify whether the said Writing was Read to her husband before he signed it And so the Matter was deferred untill Mr David Hobart should Come & on the 19th day of october 1715. the said Hobart & the other Witneses Came before the Judge & gave their severall Testimonys to the said Writing which are on file

Majr John Bradford being then present said some of his Witneses Could not be then had & Prayed a further time might be appointed for to Argue the Probate of the said Will before it was allowed And accordingly wenesday the Court in december was appointed for both partys to be present to argue & Prove what Each thought fit for & against the Probate of the said Will.

At which day Maj<sup>r</sup> Bradford appearing & M<sup>rs</sup> Jael Bradfords brother in Law & a kinsman of hers on her behalf And Maj<sup>r</sup> Bradford then Produced his Witnesses who being all Sworn that Matter was Argued on both sids & a full hearing had

The said Judge Declared that he Could not approve nor allow the said Writing to be the Will of the said deceased Mr

Joseph Bradford And his Reasons are as follows viz

I because it was Evident by the Testimoney of Mr Ephraim Little that the said Mr Joseph Bradford was deceived in a former will written by the said David Hobart brother to the said Jael And the said Mrs Bradford Promoting it & declaring it to be her husbands Will when (as he after said) it was not his Will.

2 That by this Will or writing the on half of Mr Joseph Bradfords lands will Probably fall to the Hobarts therfore the said David Hobart not so fit for a Witness or Scribe therof.

3 The other two Witnesses Cannot say he was of a disposeing mind & memory when he signed it.

4 By M<sup>r</sup> Eliazer Cushmans Testimony (a man also of known Integrity) It is Evedent that Either he the said M<sup>r</sup> Joseph Bradford was non Sane Memori or that he was agen deceived in this as in his former Will when he signed it . by his saying he would give all his lands to his son . when but a few hours before he had signed his Will & therin gave half his lands to his wife-& her heires & asigns for Ever.

Note That  $M^{rs}$  Jael Bradford nor any in her behalf ever moved to the said Judge any appeal from the afores d sentence. Nathaniel Thomas J. Probats

EDWARD WINSLOW.

COMMUNICATED BY WINSLOW WARREN.

No historian of the Pilgrims of Plymouth would fail to assign to Edward Winslow a prominent place as one of their three or four great leaders. Of high social standing, well educated, of gentle and courteous manners, tactful and kind yet resolute, he combined qualities some of which were rare among the Pilgrims and of the utmost importance to the success of their settlement. No other man among them possessed such skill in diplomacy as Winslow and he was their chief and sure reliance in dealing with the perplexing questions arising with the Indians, in negotiations with the mother country, in the disputes with Massachusetts and the other colonies, and in all, the trade relations with England, the Kennebec, Connecticut and other settlements. He filled many responsible positions with great ability and displayed a knowledge of men and affairs surprising in view of his lack of early training and experience.

While in practical administrative ability he may not have equalled Bradford, and while he was not a soldier like Standish, in scholarship and general culture, and in the power of adapting his knowledge to the needs and conditions of the settlement, he was approached by neither.

Although he is the only one of the Pilgrims of whom we have an authentic portrait, and memorials of him in the form of publications and coats of arms, and silver and furniture, are not rare, we really know but little of his history before his coming to Plymouth. His grandfather Kenelm Winslow lived at Kempsey in the County of Worcester, England, and his father Edward owned a family seat called Careswell at Droitwich in the same County, where the birth of the Pilgrim Edward is recorded in 1595. He was the oldest of five sons all of whom came to America, Edward and Gilbert in the Mayflower, the others later. He was educated at Droitwich and as far as we know lived there until he reached the age of twenty-two. There has been a tradition that he was educated at Cambridge University but it appears to be without foundation. There is nothing to show that in England he had any communication with the Pilgrims or that he was in any way inclined to their religious views — his family lived at a considerable distance from Scrooby or Austerfield where most of the Pilgrims met and there is no evidence of any special Puritan or Separatist movement in Worcestershire distinct from the general tendency throughout England. He first appears in history as a young man of liberal education who while travelling for pleasure upon the Continent falls in by accident with Robinson's congregation in Leyden in 1617, becomes interested in their peculiar views and joins the Pilgrim church. He was then a bachelor, but twenty-two years of age, apparently of some means but engaged in no particular business or profession. Soon after becoming a member of the Levden congregation the records show that he was married to Elizabeth Barker, a young English girl also a member of the congregation. The three years spent in Leyden he is supposed to have been in the printing business. probably with Brewster, but we hear little of him until in the summer of 1620 we find him corresponding as one of the Pilgrim agents with Carver and Cushman in England with reference to the arrangements for the departure for America.

About August 1, 1620, he left with the others in the Speedwell from Delft Haven, shared their experiences with the leaky ships in England and sailed in the Mayflower for America September 16. His name appears on the famous compact signed in Provincetown harbor in the cabin of the Mayflower November 21. He was upon the march inland begun December 16, during which the Pilgrims had their first encounter with the Indians, and was with the party which landed on Clark's Island and "the next day being the Sabbath wee rested." Monday the 21st, as Winslow writes, they "sounded the Harbour (Plymouth), and found it a very good Harbour for our shipping, we marched also into the Land, and found divers corne fields, and little running brookes, a place very good for scituation, so we returned to our Ship againe with good newes to the rest of our people, which did much comfort their hearts."

This was the landing on Plymouth Rock and this simple account all that contemporaneous history tells of it. December 26 the Mayflower sailed up into the harbor; soon after the whole company went ashore, the beginning of the common house was made and a new Nation was born.

Three disastrous months followed and one of many who fell by the way was his faithful wife, yet such were the perils and necessities of the situation that but seven weeks elapsed before he married a second wife, Susannah White, who herself had been a widow but twelve weeks.

The period of mourning seems short but the perils surrounding them allowed no yielding to the natural feelings of grief and compelled the union of families for protection and safety. The marriage proved a happy one and Susannah Winslow became famous in history as the wife of one Pilgrim Governor, the mother of another, who was the first native born Governor, and mother also, by her first husband, of the first white child born in New England, Peregrine White. She survived her husband a quarter of a century and died at Marshfield in 1680.

In March the Pilgrims were startled by the appearance among them of the Indian Samoset with his "Welcome Englishmen" and were informed by him of the neighborhood of the Sachem Massasoit and his desire to confer with them. the delicate and dangerous duty of interviewing the chief and of ascertaining his temper of mind Winslow was selected, and meeting Massasoit a short distance from the settlement he arranged a conference in Plymouth and volunteered to remain with the Indians while Massasoit visited the authorities. Through his tactful address and skill this meeting became an eventful one and resulted in a treaty of peace with the Indians which remained unbroken for fifty-five years, until King Philip's war. It is not too much to say that upon the result of these negotiations largely depended the future of the settlement, for in its weak and forlorn condition peace with the Indian neighbors was of the first importance.

In July it was determined to explore the interior and return the visit of Massasoit at his home near Mt. Hope and Winslow was chosen for that duty with Stephen Hopkins.

The journey through thirty miles of trackless forest was a rough one and perilous from the uncertainty as to the disposition of the Indians on the route, but they reached Massasoit in safety and found him and his people friendly and desirous of extending a hospitable welcome, but as they had just returned from an expedition they were very short of provisions. Winslow quaintly writes "Late it grew, but victualls he offered none; for indeed he had not any, being he came so newly home. So we desired to goe to rest: he layd us on the bed with himselfe and his wife, they at the one end and we at the other, it being onely plancks layd a foot from the ground, and a thin Mat upon them. Two more of his chiefe men for want of roome pressed by and upon us; so that we were worse weary of our lodging then of our journey. . . . . . wee desired to keepe the Sabboth at home: and feared we should either be lightheaded for want of sleepe, for what with bad lodging, the Savages barbarous singing, (for they use to sing themselves asleepe) lice and fleas within doores and Muskeetoes without, wee could hardly sleepe all the time of our being there."

This promiscuous lodging with its disagreeable accompaniment of friendly but unattractive hosts made the dreary settlement in Plymouth appear a haven of rest.

This was not to be the last nor the most uncomfortable visit of Winslow to Massasoit. In the Spring of 1623 news came of the serious illness of the latter and again Winslow set out with an Indian guide Hobamak and a "gentleman from London," John Hampden. Much has been written of the significance of the supposed comradeship of the famous John Hampden, but more recent investigation has clearly shown that the patriot

Hampden was not in this country at the time.

Yet the visit was a remarkable one, for the country of Massasoit's probable successor, Corbitant, had first to be gone through, and he was known to have ambitious projects and not to be over friendly towards the Pilgrims; but Massasoit's home was reached and the evident cordiality of the reception showed how deep was the impression upon the Indians of Winslow's tenderness of heart and gentle bearing. Fortunately he possessed some knowledge of medicine and after most assiduous personal ministration was able to relieve the monarch's suffering and when the time came to depart was followed with most demonstrative evidence of gratitude and friendship.

On the way home he stopped at Swansea and passed the night with Corbitant, finding him a most entertaining host, being, as he says, "a notable politician, yet full of merry jests and squibs, and never better pleased than when the like are returned upon him again"—What a scene for a painter—probably the only one of the Pilgrims who had fun and wit enough to enjoy this rather grim frolic in the woods—imagine the sturdy and scholarly Pilgrim alone in the wilderness with the treacherous chief, sitting over the fire smoking hospitable pipes in the lonely hut and exchanging jokes, all the while suspecting that the jolly savage was hostile and uncertain. Corbitant expressed to him his surprise that he risked the journey, and hinted that he wouldn't have come on his account if he had been sick like Massasoit, became very inquisitive, poked fun at him, and in Indian style tried to draw him out. A full report would be most entertaining but we have only fragments, as for instance when Corbitant asked why when he came to Plymouth they stood upon their guard with the mouths of their pieces presented to him and upon Winslow's shrewdly answering "it was the most honorable and respective entertainment we could give them" and such as they bestowed upon distinguished persons—Corbitant dryly remarked he "liked not such salutations." They parted however in the morning in a cordial way and Winslow returned having gained much important information as to threatened hostile movements and yet leaving a distinct impression upon the Indians of the good will of the settlement and its desire to be on friendly terms with its neighbors.

In September of the same year Winslow sailed in the "Anne" for England as agent for the Colony and while there published his "Good Newes from New England," giving rather a hopeful account of the plantation from the period when the so-called "Mourt's Relation" left off down to September 10, 1623, being really a continuation of the latter book, which it is understood was written by Bradford and Winslow and sent to England in 1622 for publication, its name being derived from the fact of its preface being signed by "G. Mourt."

In March, 1624, he returned with much needed supplies, bringing also the first bull and heifers imported to the Colony.

Another portion of the cargo was less satisfactory, for with him came one John Lyford, an Episcopal preacher with Puritan leanings who contrary to Winslow's advice was selected by a portion of the Adventurers in England. Lyford soon became a thorn in the flesh to the Pilgrims and by his unseemly behaviour and duplicity so aroused the Pilgrim ire that they drove him from the settlement and repudiated all connection with him.

Subsequently Winslow had much trouble over this matter in England and was compelled to expose the disagreeable facts of Lyford's early life to show the man in his true colors and vindicate the Pilgrim action.

For the next few years he was fully occupied with negotiations and business transactions with the Kennebec and other settlements, and in 1627 Bradford, Standish, Allerton, Winslow, Howland, Alden and Prence agreed with the Adventurers in England to take over the whole trade of the Colony for six years, undertaking to pay all debts and arrange for the removal of the rest of the congregation from Holland, Robinson their revered pastor having died.

In 1630 he went to England again as Agent and after his return was chosen Governor in 1633, to succeed Bradford who sought a well earned retirement, and the next year was chosen one of the Assistants, which office he filled for eleven years.

In 1632 Winslow had made an expedition to the Connecticut River and established a trading post near Hartford;—the region being claimed by the Dutch and also by settlers from Dorchester and Cambridge, warm disputes arose in 1635–6 as to ownership;—the Plymouth men had driven out the Dutch and Governor Winthrop having taken up the cause of the Massachusetts men Winslow was sent to negotiate with him. The powerful influence of the larger Colony was too much for Plymouth although a large portion of the latter's claim was conceded, but the reputation that Winslow acquired in Boston was soon shown by the remarkable action of the Massachusetts authorities in requesting him in face of some opposition to represent them in England in the matter of the Dutch complaints, the alleged restriction of the suffrage, and other points.

In 1635 he sailed for England but arrived at an unfortunate time for any one with Puritan or Pilgrim antecedents. Archbishop Laud was Chairman of the Commission before which he was delegated to appear, and, although by his arguments Winslow was able to influence the rest of the Commission, the Archbishop had him arrested and imprisoned for seventeen weeks under charge of being a Separatist and of solemnizing marriages illegally, and he escaped punishment only by influence of friends in high station.

Winslow always charged this imprisonment to the spite of Morton of Merry Mount fame who certainly had no occasion to love the authorities of either Plymouth or Boston.

Perhaps the strongest testimony to the value of Winslow's services is afforded in a letter of one of his bitterest opponents from America, Samuel Maverick a devoted Churchman living at East Boston in a fortified house surrounded by four cannon, who was in violent hostility to the Boston men on account of alleged deprivation of political rights:—he wrote from England—"a dismal change falling out just at that time and they (the Boston men) sending hither one Edward Winslow a smooth tongued cunning fellow who soon got himself into favor of those then in the supreme power, against whom it was in vain to strive."

Returning in 1636 with enhanced reputation he was again chosen Governor. The religious controversies between the more liberal and the stricter Puritans in Boston were now at their height and the Governor of Plymouth, who was known to hold moderate views, had no easy task to avoid being drawn into them and to answer the sometimes sharp and imperious letters from Boston.

The banishment of Roger Williams from Boston threatened no small embarrassment to Plymouth as he had formerly been the minister there and at first removed only to the edge of their settlement where he had many friends, and it was only by Winslow's tact that trouble was avoided by persuading Williams to move a little farther on into Rhode Island with the suggestion that then "they would remain loving friends together" thus avoiding any dispute with Boston. It is a singular historical fact that the chief cause of Williams leaving the Plymouth ministry was the unpopularity there of his severe and narrow views as to church membership.

The kind relations between Winslow and Williams continued for many years after the latter's removal to Rhode Island and frequent friendly visits were exchanged.

The big hearted and courteous Pilgrim Governor was a difficult man to quarrel with and nothing shows more clearly his genial qualities of mind and heart than his success in dealing with such different elements and retaining the friendship and respect of all, whether it was the authorities in England, the Governor in Boston, the dissenting colonists in Rhode Island or the wild Indian in the forest. With them all he carried himself with unmistakeable high breeding and courtesy, with a tactful shrewdness and with a keen knowledge of men and affairs such as few men in either settlement possessed.

In 1638 he purchased an estate in that part of Duxbury now Marshfield, which he named Careswell in memory of the old home in England and which remained in possession of the family for nearly two centuries, when it became the property and the home of Daniel Webster.

In 1639 we find him associated with Governor Bradford, Endicott and Stoughton in settling the boundaries of the colonies, and in 1643 he was one of the first Commissioners of the Confederated Colonies. The next year he was again the Governor of Plymouth, but the time was approaching when he should look his last upon New England, and find employment in a larger sphere of usefulness in the mother country. The Massachusetts Colony was suffering from the complaints and machinations of Gorton and others in England and needed a strong man to represent them. They sought for Winslow's services "as a fit man to be employed in our present affairs both in regard to his abilities of presence, speech, courage and understanding and being well known to the Commissioners as having suffered imprisonment by the Archepiscopal prelate."

Oliver Cromwell was now head of the State and an agent from New England was sure of quite different reception from formerly, yet the business required a man of large experience and extensive influence and Winslow was recognized in New and Old England as possessing special qualifications. Plymouth acceded to the request of Massachusetts that he should act as their Agent with much unwillingness and with fear that he might meet with inducements in England which would prevent his return, but Winslow regarded it a duty to accept and sailed in 1646. The mission was a difficult and responsible one but he accomplished its object with much address.

Governor Hutchinson says of his missions to England "by his prudent management and the credit and esteem he was in with many of the members of Parliament and principal persons then in power he prevented any prejudice to the Colony."

During the long controversy with Gorton in England Winslow published in reply to Gorton's "Simplicities Defence" a very severe and caustic pamphlet entitled "Hypocrisie Unmasked" with an appendix containing his "Brief Narration," and later when Childs published "New England's Jonah cast up in London" which attacked Winslow personally and arraigned the proceedings in Boston against "divers honest and goodly persons"—he came out with a masterly and crushing reply entitled "New England's Salamander discovered by an Irreligious and Scornful Pamphlet."

He also published while there "The Glorious Progress of the Gospel among the Indians" with extracts from letters of Eliot and Mayhew, and organized the Society for Propagating the Gospel among the Indians.

It was not long before his abilities attracted the attention of Cromwell and he was persuaded to take service under the Protector. In 1652 he was Chairman of the Joint English and Dutch Commissioners to award damages for vessels destroyed in Denmark by the Dutch, and in 1655 he accepted his last Commission as chief of three Commissioners — the others being Admiral Penn and Gen. Venable — to capture the Spanish West Indies and to govern Hispaniola.

The expedition against Hispaniola failed through the blundering of the Admiral and sailed to attack Jamaica, but on the passage Winslow was taken ill and died and was buried at sea May 8, 1655, with a salute of 42 guns. His will was proved in England, most of his property being left to his son Josiah, and a copy of it was printed in the January, 1902, number of this Magazine.

The feeling of the members of the expedition towards him was expressed in these quaint lines written by one of the party.

The Eighth of May, west from 'Spaniola shore, God took from us our Grand Commissioner, Winslow by name, a man in Chiefest Trust, Whose Life was sweet, and Conversation just; Whose Parts and wisdome most men did excel: An honour to his Place, as all can tell.

It would be of intense interest could we learn more of the inner home life of a man who appears to have had so many attractive qualities and whose influence over men of very different station and character was so marked, but that part of Pilgrim life exists chiefly in romance and tradition, for none of the Pilgrim histories give more than a glimpse of it.

His picture now in Pilgrim Hall, Plymouth, shows a man with open pleasing countenance, mild eye and firm mouth, with a somewhat rotund and vigorous figure and with a striking air of gentility. There is nothing about it of the conventional Pilgrim, it suggests rather the prosperous and contented man of affairs - but his face strongly indicates a gentle temper and a quiet sense of humor, combined with firm determination. This sense of humor was so strongly developed in the descendants of the Governor and has afforded to the Old Colony so many amusing stories of later incidents that we can safely believe it to have been an inherited trait. One wonders a little if Edward Winslow was ever so much of the Pilgrims as with them. He does not appear to have been strictly a religionist in the meaning of the day and history does not associate him with religious controversies or actions except perhaps in the severe tracts he published in London in his later years. vinist as he was in religious faith he was moderate in his opinions, generally tolerant, and exhibited in that part of his character the same breadth of view and cheerfulness that one finds in his bearing in the more practical details of business.

No one could have gained such influence over the Indians as he undoubtedly acquired unless added to his diplomatic talents were a big heart, unselfish devotion and an unruffled temper, and if that was the key to his success with them, it was equally owing to those qualities added to his great ability, his courage and his frank and manly bearing that he won friendship in the narrow and bigoted circles in Boston, at the English Court even when Charles I and Laud were crushing and persecuting the Puritan element, and, later, with the severely practical and stern Cromwellians. He was a man in advance of his times and in many respects unlike his times and yet his work was of inestimable value to the Pilgrims and no one among them could have exactly filled his position, for he seems to have been specially ordained by Providence as a harmonizer and composer of quarrels and as the fit instrument to lead in delicate negotiations and important affairs requiring no small ability as a diplomatist. He somehow appeals to us of the present day in a little different way from any other of the Pilgrim band for he was not unlike the men of the present generation and his nature seems more gentle and loveable than that of most of his contemporaries, still he must have been a true representative of his people and a faithful exponent of their views, for otherwise he would never have been so trusted while he lived and so sincerely mourned at his early death. Whenever history shall present his life to us more fully than can be done in these pages, when the English records shall be more carefully searched for traces of his work and further evidence obtained of his great capacity and power, we are convinced that we shall then have the picture of a great Pilgrim Governor who added cheerfulness to constancy, gentleness to courage and absolute truthfulness and integrity to very high powers of civic statesmanship.

FORT EDWARD Augt 6th 1757

There Ingagement Still Lasts at ye Lake But Not So Furious a Firing as was Yesterday About Noon Gen<sup>11</sup> Johnson Arrivd Here with a Larg Party — Some of them of the Melitia at Albony Canderhuck & Clavrick — among others Capt: Hucabons With His Company — This Day I Se Tobious Vandwoser & Several others that I Knew at Clavrick &c. At Night there Came an Express from Fort Wm Henry By which I Hear that our People Hold their Ground Good & Col: Monroe Said He was as well Pleasd as if He was in His own Cuntry among ye Pertaters

Sunday ye 7th Som Time In ye Morning I Lit of Mr Bell & Spent Some time with Him then we went to a Meeting where Was Sung ye 71st Plalm then ye Young Boston Chaplen

Preachd From Ist Samll 14th 6th &c -

This Day ye Firing at ye Lake Contnued But Not So Smart as Before — The Millitia Now are Continually Coming to our Assistance But we are Impatient of Waiting Knowing all our Interest & Privelages Lay at Stake & we Not Yet Strong Enought to Ingage ye Enimy—

At Night I went onto ye Piqt: Capt Fletcher is Commander of it ye Mohogs Mad a Vary Bad Nois all ye Night & Toard Day ye Wolvs Tried to Emitate them & there was one Serjt

Euen of ye 60th Regt on Guard with Us &c - ye 8th The Firing at ye Lake Began about Sunrise as Usual & Continued Most of ye Day Vary Hard — Gen<sup>ll</sup> Webb went out with a Larg Party to Vieu ye Ground Round ye Fort He Returnd a Little after Noon — Toard Night there Came In an Ox from Ft Wm Henry at Night our Piqt was Relieved as Usual — This Night there was Many Guns Hered from ye Lake &c. — We Have No Further News of orders To March to Relieve ye Other Fort But Contlude to Wate for More Strength

' ye 9th In ye Morning there Came in a Larg Number of ye Millitia Cheefly from Boston Province—Near 200 with Horses &c: This Seems to Be the Most Unfortunate Day that Ever I Knew we Had a Rumer about Noon that Fort

Now after our People at ye Lake Had Bravely Stood ye Seege 7 Days & 6 Night Haveing No Relief Sent em Nor No Incouragement of any were Obliged to Surrender But it was on Capitulation . they were to Bring of their Packs & arms & to March out with Flying Coulars—This was Talkd of

ye 10th In ye Morning Majr Prevos went of with about 300 Men to Meet our Men from ye Lake The Lines were Soon turnd out & Kept out Most of ye Day about 9 oClok our People Begun to Com In from ye Lake—By which we Soon

Larn How they were Used

This Morning as they were Marching out of ye old Encampment they were to Be Guarded By ye French Ragulars to Keep of ye Ingians But as they Com of ye Indians Beset our People & Kild them with their Speers Robd them of all that they were allowd By ye Capitulation. Children they took from their Mothers & Dasht their Brains out against ye Stons ye Mothers they Servd ye Same and also their Husbands if they offerd to Relieve them So the Savages Plunderd Stript Kild & Scalpt our People — About Noon ye Main Body of our People Came in from ye Lake with their Coulers Displayd—all This Day our People Kept Coming in By Small Partys Appearing in ye Most Pityfull Manner Som of them Stript Intirely Naked others Robd of Most that they Had But Vary Few of them with their Fire Locks

This & Yesterday are ye Two Most Sorrowfull Day that

Ever were Known to N England

The Seege of Fort W<sup>m</sup> Henry Began Aug<sup>t</sup> 3<sup>d</sup> & it was Surrenderd y<sup>e</sup> 9th at 7 in y<sup>e</sup> Morning During y<sup>e</sup> whol time of this Seege our Men were Extreem Resolute to Go to Relieve our People But Never Could By any Means Get orders

In ye Seege I am Informd that we Had about 50 Men Kild But ye Slaughter of this Day is Soposd to Be Vastly Greater than all the Rest—& our Men Not allowd to Resist ye Savages Let them Sacrifise Nevers So Many of them

REPORTS FROM STATE SOCIETIES.

MASSACHUSETTS SOCIETY.

On Saturday afternoon, June 13, 1903, about twenty-five members of the Society went to Salem, to see The Only Mayrlower Gravestone,* that of Richard More in the Charter St. Cemetery, and to visit other points of interest. Many members who had expressed their intention of joining the party were prevented from doing so by the threatening weather.

After the More gravestones had been inspected, Mr. George Francis Dow, Secretary of the Essex Institute, took charge of the party and under his guidance many of Salem's interesting historical points were visited.

PILGRIM NOTES AND QUERIES.

NOTES.

THE PARENTAGE OF RICHARD MORE. Mr. Edwin A. Hill of Washington, D. C., in a letter received as we are going to press, states that he has discovered the parentage of the More children who came in the Mayflower. In the parish register of Shipton, Shropshire, England, as printed in 1898 (pages 19–21), will be found the marriage of Samuel Moore, "Generosus" (i. e., of noble birth), and Katherine Moore, of Larden, on 4 February, 1610 (1611, New Style), and the baptisms of their children as follows: "Ellinora," 24 May, 1612; Jasper, 8 August, 1613; Richard, 13 November, 1614; Maria, 16 April, 1616.

Bradford mentions Ellen, Jasper and Richard, and in Richard More's deposition * taken 27 September, 1684, he claimed to be "aged seaventy yeares or thereabouts." Bradford does not mention Maria, who may have died very young, and the baptism of the unnamed brother mentioned by Bradford, who must have been born after 1616, is not found in this register; but there can be no doubt that the parentage of Richard More has been discovered, and the Editor's theory that Richard More survived all the male passengers except Peregrine White is confirmed.
